NANKING THREATENS WAR ON MANCHUKUO

Expedition Would Follow Japanese Recognition

REPLY TO COUNT UCHIDA

MILITARY CLAUSES IN JAPAN'S TREATY

REUTERS' NANKING CORRESPONDENT REPORTS THIS MORNING THAT WELL-INFORMED CHINESE NEWSPAPERS IN THE CAPITAL DECLARE THAT, IN THE EVENT OF JAPANESE RECOGNITION OF THE MANCHUKUO GOVERNMENT, THE CENTRAL GOVERNMENT INTENDS TO ORDER A PUNITIVE EXPEDITION AGAINST MANCHUKUO.

In the meantime, Yang Yu-lin, Governor of Jehol, has been instructed to offer armed resistance to any further Japanese attempt at invasion of the province. It is believed that the arrival in Manchuria of General Muto, who has been given control over the army as well as diplomatic affairs, will mark the commencement of a general onslaught against Jehol.

It may be noted that General Muto has with him the draft of the treaty which Japan expects to conclude with Mr. Pu Yi before formal recognition is extended.

Details of the treaty, disclosed at Chungchun, reveal that Manchukuo and Japan are to be allied for peace and for war. In the event of an attack by a third Power, such as Russia or China, Japan and Manchukuo will combine forces in the subsequent war.

TOKYO POLITICAL CRISIS

BREACH BETWEEN GOVERNMENT AND THE SEIYUKAI

(SPECIAL TO THE "TELEGRAPH").

Tokyo, Aug. 30. While the Saito Government is proceeding boldly with its policy regarding Manchuria, it is being beset by serious domestic difficulties which may yet bring about its downfall.

There is no doubt to-day that the political situation is rapidly reaching the critical stage. The atmosphere is tense and all hope has been abandoned that the Government and the Seiyukai will agree on the measures introduced into the Diet for the revision of the rice laws.

The Seiyukai is demanding more drastic measures for the relief of the farming community.—Reuters.

JAPANESE BOXER INDEMNITY

RETENTION AGAIN CONTEMPLATED

Shanghai, Aug. 30. Prior to his departure for Nanking, Mr. T. V. Soong told newspaper correspondents that the question of a blockade of the Manchukuo Customs was still under discussion.

The Government, he added, was also giving serious consideration to the retention of the Japanese Boxer Indemnity since the Dairen Customs revenue for July had not been received.—Reuters.

SILVER OUTLOOK UNCERTAIN

HONGKONG DOLLAR UNALTERED

The silver situation at the moment is uncertain, with the result that very little business is passing in Hongkong, the dollar remaining unchanged at 1s. 4.3/8d.

In London, silver advanced 1/8th, the rise being chiefly due to India buying. The market closed quietly steady. After the official fixing, the market ruled uncertain, with buyers satisfied.

New York reports no change at present, the tendency uncertain.

THE LANCASHIRE STRIKE

OPERATIVES NOT TOGETHER

London, Aug. 29. The extent to which the Lancashire cotton weavers have responded to the call of their union to go out on strike is not yet fully known, but from reports available in various centres it would appear that a considerable number of mills are at work and in some towns in the south and south-east of Lancashire, conditions are almost normal.

"TELEGRAPH" PHOTO COMPETITION

Competitors in the Telegraph Summer Photo Competition are reminded that entries definitely close to-morrow, 31st instant.

A further batch of entries will be published in the Pictorial Supplement on Saturday, and it is hoped to publish the results, together with the winning pictures, in our issue of Saturday September 3rd.

SUTCLIFFE MAKES 3,000 RUNS

ANOTHER RECORD ESTABLISHED

London, Aug. 29. Herbert Sutcliffe, the famous Yorkshire and England batsman, to-day completed his 3,000 runs for the season, the third time in his career and the second season in succession.

He is the only player in first-class cricket who has scored 3,000 runs in a season three times.

He now has a distinctly good chance of beating his own record aggregate, in fact, it would be almost impossible that he should not do so. His 1928 figures were 3,002 and his 1931 figures were 3,006.

The record is held by Tom Hayward (Surrey), who in 61 innings in 1906 obtained 3,518 runs.—British Wireless.

STOCK MARKET RESTRICTION

Partial Relaxation Authorised

WAR LOAN SUCCESS

London, Aug. 29. On his return from Ottawa, the Chancellor of the Exchequer has reviewed the position arising from his request to intending borrowers to refrain from coming on the market pending the completion of the War Loan conversion operation.

In view of the gratifyingly high percentage of assents already received from holders of War Loan, the Chancellor now feels satisfied that some partial relaxation of the present arrangements may safely be permitted, but, for the time being, requests that only the following operations be undertaken:

Firstly, the mere exchange of one class of security for another without change of ownership; and Secondly, the issue of new security to replace security the final redemption of which had, prior to July 1st, 1932, been fixed for a date earlier than December 1st next, provided that such operations concern only British, including Empire, sterling issues domiciled in London, and involve neither the provision of new cash nor underwriting.

An announcement respecting the repayment of the four and a half per cent, War Loan 1925-35, and the 4½ per cent Treasury Bonds 1932-34 is being made on Tuesday. By the beginning of October, it will be possible to estimate with fair accuracy the total amount of cash to be provided for redemption on December 1st.

The question of terminating the so-called "Embargo" will then be reviewed and a further statement made.—British Wireless.

ANGLO-IRISH PEACE PROSPECT

MR. SEAN O'KELLY INTERVIEWED.

London, Aug. 29. Mr. Sean O'Kelly, and thirteen other members of the Irish Free State delegation to Ottawa, reached Southampton this afternoon.

In an interview, he referred to his frequent informal conversations with the Dominion Secretary, Mr. J. H. Thomas on the Irish question.

He agreed with Mr. Thomas that no door had been closed to peace and, in his opinion, there was a much better atmosphere of friendliness as a result of their deliberations. British Wireless.

LAST DEBT TO BE PAID

BRITAIN AND LOAN FROM FRANCE

CRISIS CREDITS DISAPPEAR

London, Aug. 29. Britain's recovery from the financial crisis of last Autumn is beyond a doubt remarkable.

With the payment, which is to be made on September 10, of the sum of Frs. 2,500,000,000 to France, Britain will have repaid in full the entire amount of the huge foreign credits obtained by the Treasury last year in an attempt to prevent the break with the gold standard.

It will be recalled that the credits totalled £8200,000,000 from the United States and Frs. 5,000,000,000 from France, of which latter sum, half was advanced by the banks and the remainder was subscribed for by the French public in the form of bonds.

RIGHTS LAPSE.

The whole of the American credit was repaid in March and April last, with the right to re-borrow £50,000,000 at any time up to August 28, but the right has not been exercised and will now finally lapse.

The portion of the French credit granted by the banks was also repaid in March, with the right to re-borrow at any time up to September 10. Not only will this right not be exercised, but the remaining Frs. 2,500,000,000 will be repaid at due date, thereby extinguishing the whole of the amount of the credits.

INACCURATE REPORTS.

In view of entirely inaccurate reports current in certain quarters during the last few days regarding the repayment of credits obtained last year from the United States it has been necessary to restate that all the sums drawn against that credit have been finally repaid and that the whole of the foreign credits acquired in the emergency last summer, whether current, or in the form of contingent rights, will shortly have disappeared, repayment in all cases having been made in full.—Reuters and British Wireless.

MOLLISON HITS A THUNDERSTORM

FORCED DOWN IN NOVA SCOTIA

New York, Aug. 30. Weather conditions appear to be conspiring to hamper Mr. J. A. Mollison in his efforts to complete arrangements for his return flight to England.

A message from Sydney, Nova Scotia, states that the airman landed safely in a field near Sydney during a thunderstorm. He was bound for Harbour Grace. His machine was not damaged.

LAU'S AGENCY IN FUNG MURDER

MUST BE PROVED DEFENCE ARGUES

BRIDGING GAP

Quotations from authorities and citation of cases occupied most of this morning's sitting of the Full Court's hearing of the defence case in law for the quashing of the conviction of Cheng Kwok-yau, found guilty last week of procuring the murder of George Fung.

Mr. Eldon Potter, K. C., dealt early with the point of Lau's agency and reiterated his argument of yesterday that unless this could be established beyond all doubt, the Crown case must fail.

He attacked the admission of the Zimmern and Christie evidence and declared that the Crown had made it probative of the main fact.

BRIDGING THE GAP.

"When I said there was no case for me to answer," he said, "Mr. Sheldon, in reply, made no effort to attribute any portions of evidence to any particular issue. He merely said the jury could bridge the gap between the accused and Tsui by taking the evidence as a whole. Is it not obvious that the whole evidence of Zimmern and Christie being available is probative of the main fact?"

"I challenge anyone," continued Mr. Potter, "to contend that Zimmern and Christie are mixed up with Tsui, and there is no connecting link in Tsui's evidence with the accused."

The argument is proceeding.

JAPANESE PIECE GOODS DUMPING INTO INDIA

Higher Duty Coming into Force

NO DISCRIMINATION

Simla, Aug. 29. The import duty upon non-British cotton piece goods is to be increased immediately from 31½ per cent. to 50 per cent. ad valorem.

This is the result of the recommendations of the Indian Tariff Board, which has been studying the problem in view of the heavy shipments of Japanese goods to India.

Plain greys will be subject to a minimum duty of five and a quarter annas a pound (or 60 per cent, whichever is the higher) as compared with the present rate of 4½.

PROTECTION INEFFECTIVE.

The Tariff Board's report has not yet been published but the Government of India's resolution upon it given a summary and shows that the Board answered in the affirmative the question whether non-British piece-goods were being imported at such a price as to render the existing protective tariffs ineffective.

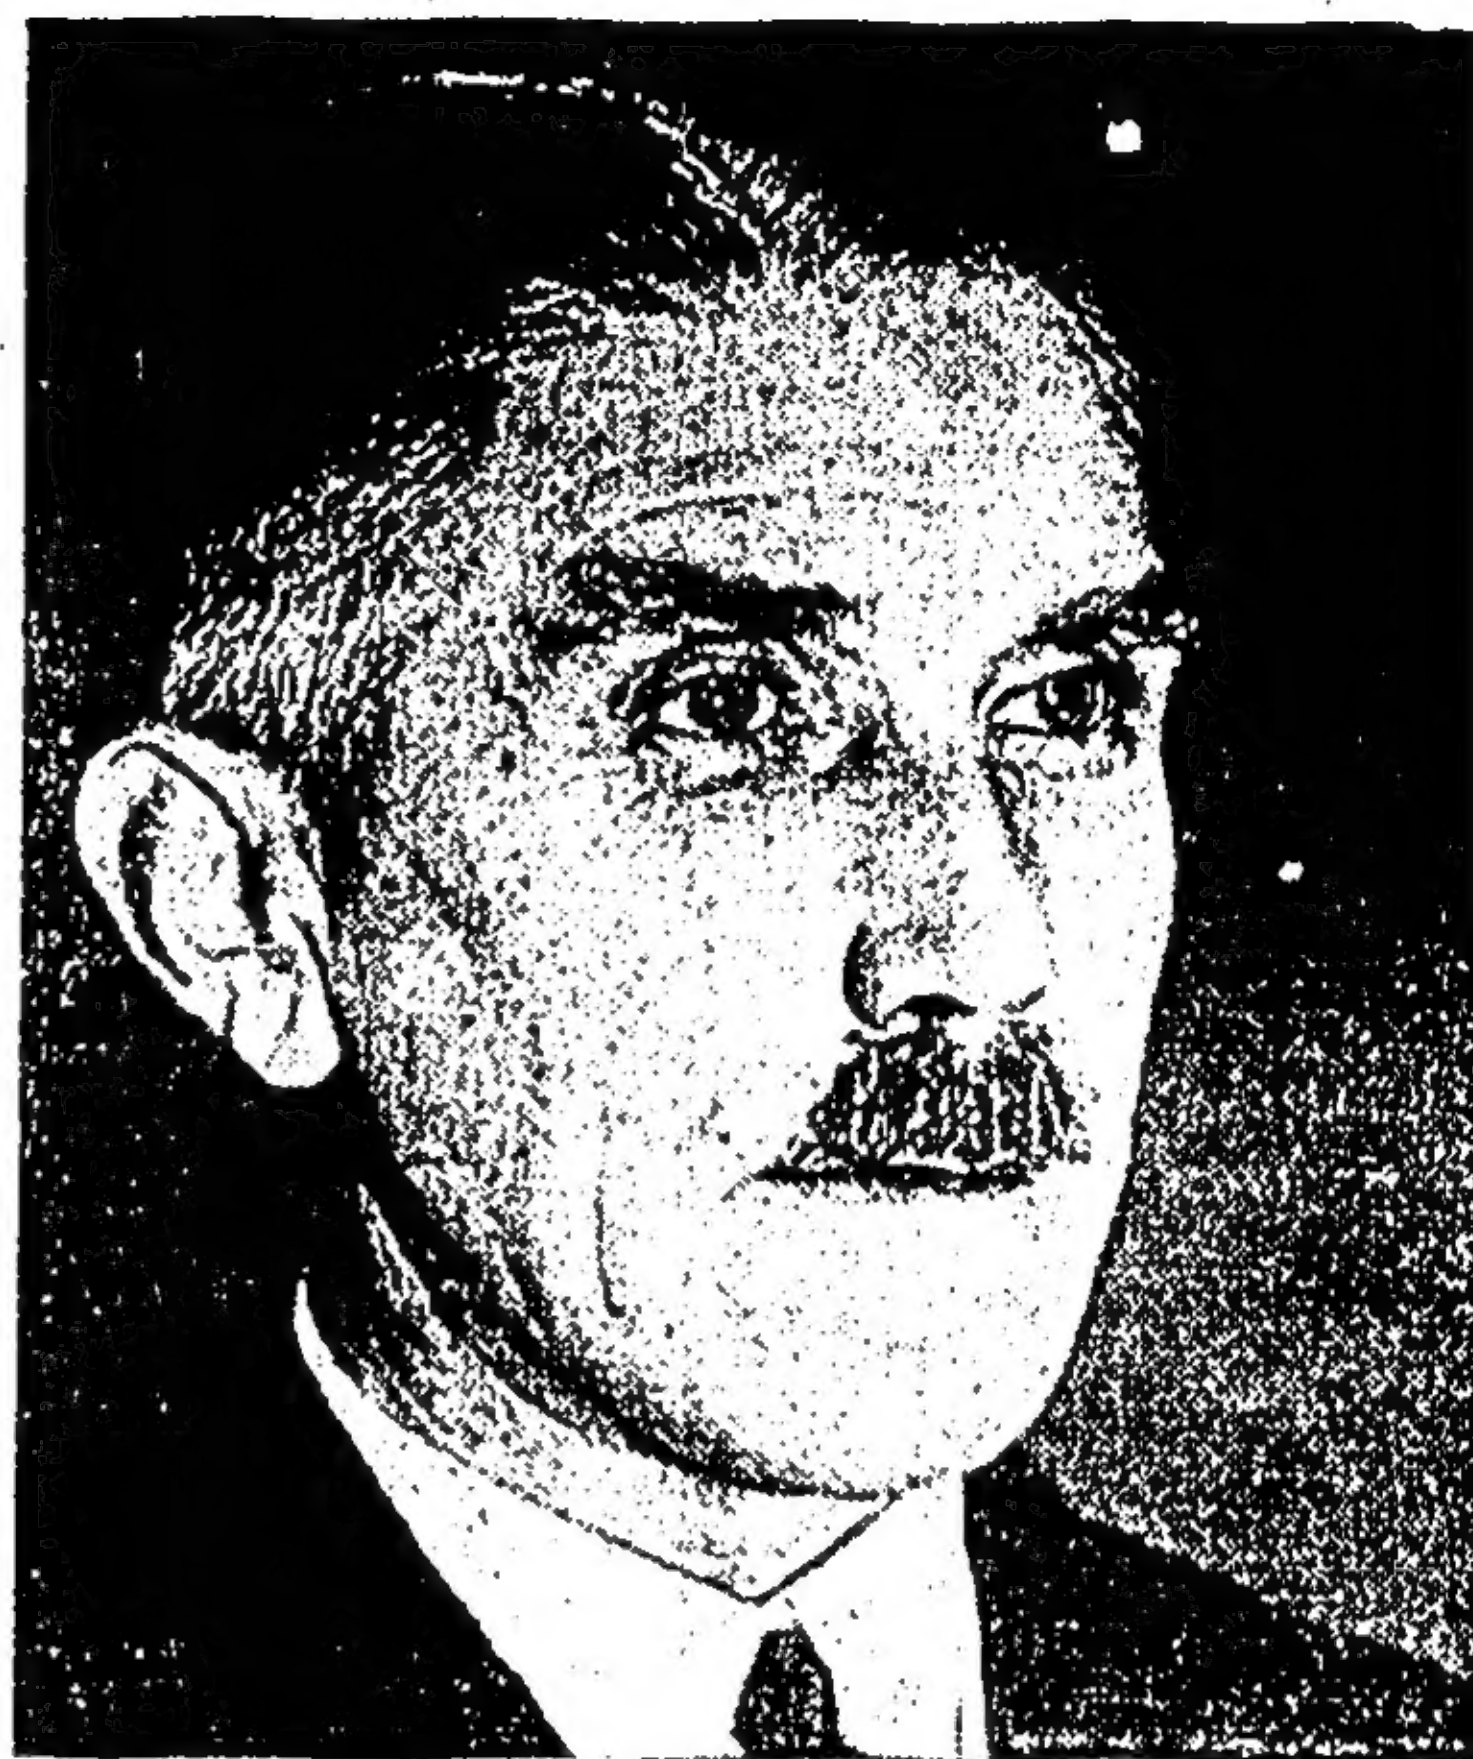

It is pointed out that the Government of India's action is, to some extent, circumscribed by the terms of the Indo-Japanese Convention of 1904 which does not admit the imposition under any circumstances of higher duties upon Japanese goods alone.

GENERAL INCREASE.

The Government therefore rejected any measure involving discrimination against Japan and has applied the increased duty generally to piece-goods of non-British origin without distinguishing between various countries of origin.

The new duty, effective immediately, will remain in force until March 31, 1933.

It is pointed out that the findings of the Tariff Board must not be regarded as involving a conclusion regarding the general question of the continued protection of the Indian cotton industry, which is now the subject of a

Herr von Papen, the German Chancellor, who is likely, it is rumoured, to become one of a triumvirate which will rule Germany in the absence of the support of the Reichstag.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By W. E. McKenney.

I have selected the following as the most interesting and unusual hand of the 1932 All-American bridge tournament recently held in Cleveland.

It employs a compound triple squeeze and it somewhat resembles a double dummy problem.

The Bidding.

To those employing the one over one, South could start the contracting with a forcing bid of two diamonds as the hand does not contain over three losing cards.

The hand is also ideally suited to a bid employed by Mr. P. H. (Hal) Sims, captain of the Four Horsemen. He advocates a three forcing bid which demands that partner show his aces. If this bid were employed, South would start with three diamonds.

North, holding two aces, has a difficult problem. If he bids four diamonds, he may not get an opportunity to show his ace of hearts, so perhaps his best bid is to show his ace of hearts immediately by bidding three hearts. This bid of three hearts would be made if North's hand contained only the ace of hearts—it does not necessarily show a heart suit as the hand in this case happens to hold.

With the information that partner's bid contains the ace of hearts, South would be justified in making a bid of six diamonds. He can see that his only possible losing tricks are the ace of diamonds and the nine of spades, and certainly he has a right to feel that the nine of spades could be safely taken care of by North. If South were to bid six diamonds, North now, holding the ace of diamonds, should go to seven.

The Play.

The play is very pretty. West opens the eight of spades. East plays the ten and the declarer wins with the ace. Declarer runs off all of his diamonds but one, plays his ace of clubs and king of spades and the hand was reduced as follows:

North
Spades:—None
Hearts:—A-10
Diamonds:—None
Clubs:—Q
West
Spades:—None
Hearts:—K-J
Diamonds:—None
Clubs:—K
East
Spades:—Q
Hearts:—Q-9
Diamonds:—None
Clubs:—None
South
Spades:—9
Hearts:—4
Diamonds:—2
Clubs:—None

Declarer now leads the deuce of diamonds. West is squeezed and is forced to discard the jack of hearts to protect his club. The club is then discarded from dummy and East is squeezed. The discard of the queen of spades will make declarer's nine good, while the discard of a heart will make dummy's two hearts good.

PUMP MOTORS STOLEN.

THREE CHINESE SENTENCED AT POLICE COURT

Three Chinese stood before Mr. Schofield at the Central Police Court yesterday afternoon, two charged with larceny of three pump motors and the other with receiving two of the motors knowing them to have been stolen or unlawfully obtained.

The men accused of theft admitted the charges while the receiver pleaded guilty to the first count but denied the second.

Detective Sergeant Kennedy, who prosecuted, accepted the plea of guilty in respect of one of the motors and dropped the charge in connexion with the second.

The first defendant, according to the Police officer, was arrested in Hennessy Road during the early morning of August 19. He was carrying a bundle which contained a motor stolen from 259, Lockhart Road. The man was arrested and, on information which he divulged, the Police went to a house in Centre Street and there found another motor under the third defendant's bed. A third motor was found at 213, Queen's Road West, having been sold to an electrician. The motor found in Centre Street was stolen from 329, Lockhart Road while the third was taken from 7, Leighton Hill Road.

Police enquiries showed that the third defendant was the ring-leader and had instructed the others to do the stealing.

His Worship sentenced the first two men to six weeks hard labour and the third, whom his Worship said seemed to be the organiser of crime, to six months.

SYMPHONIC CONCERT.

SUNDAY'S TREAT AT THE PENINSULA HOTEL

The musical entertainment given by the Peninsula Hotel orchestra last Sunday night was a most enjoyable function, the programme comprising another good selection of numbers and including some old favourites.

Each item received its due applause and apparently the most popular were the Overture "Lustspiel" by Keler Bela, "The Dollar Princess" selection by Fall, overture "Semiramide" by Rossini, selections from the musical play "Katinka" by Friml, "Hearts and Flowers" by Tolani, "Neapolitan Nights" by Zamecnik, and Suite II of "Arlesienne" comprising four numbers, by Bizet.

A particular feature was the clarinet solo, "Alicante Fantasy" by Thiere, played by Mr. A. Vermick, with piano accompaniment by Mr. Stupel, and the continuous applause for an encore was accorded variations from the same number.

Other concerts for succeeding Sundays are in process of arrangement, and that for September 11 will be of exceptional interest, when Mr. G. L. Gecks, the popular conductor of the band of the 1st Bn. The South Wales Borderers will lead a joint orchestra composed of 28 selected musicians from that unit and from the bands of the Hongkong and Shanghai Hotels, Ltd.

It is understood that further consignments of mail will come to hand later in the week, but no advice has been received yet regarding other delayed mails.

"Improvement In My Health Was Soon Very Noticeable."

The action of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills upon the spirits and general health of sufferers from anaemia (blood impoverishment) and nervous troubles is such that quite often an improvement is visible in the first few days of the treatment. Appetite is better, digestion more easy and sleep more restful.

Little by little the tired feelings, physical weakness, headaches, nervousness and other symptoms disappear, driven away by the new supplies of rich pure blood which the pills help the system to create.

Mons. J. Lacouture, of Sebastopol Place, Tourcoing, France, recently wrote our Paris office demonstrating this. "For many years," wrote Mons. Lacouture, "I suffered from anaemia, with stomach weakness and other troubles. I tried in vain several treatments. But after deciding to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I found that within the first week the improvement in my health was very noticeable. After two weeks treatment all my troubles had vanished and afterwards I gained more strength from day to day. Now—and I owe it to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills alone—my health is perfect."

Obtainable from chemists and medicine dealers everywhere, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co's blood and nerve tonic. Refuse all substitutes.

Blazing shacks of the bonus camp on Anacostia flats, across the Anacostia river from Washington, made a flaming background for the retreating and defeated forces of the bonus army, following a pitched battle in the shadow of the United States capitol. A regular army sentry is shown silhouetted against the ruins after troops had routed the B. E. F. It was the last act of the engagement, which saw veterans gassed from their Pennsylvania avenue bivouac, driven across the bridge and then dispersed into the night, leaving one dead and a score wounded.

Casting a weird glare over the sky across Anacostia River from the Capital, row after row of the abandoned bonus shacks went up in flames as soldiers stalked through the ruins attempting to rescue government property and hounding out the few stragglers who attempted to remain.

Rifle, bayonet, clouds of gas, as grim soldiers stalked through the settlement of "bonus squatters" on lower Pennsylvania Avenue. Fleeing bonusers, recognizing all too well the odds against them, fled before the bayonets, holding handkerchiefs over their faces, stumbling over the wreckage of their shanties.

LEAP YEAR BRIDE

by Laura Lou BROOKMAN

BEGIN HERE TO-DAY

Cherry Dixon, pretty 18-year-old daughter of wealthy parents, falls in love with Dan Phillips, newspaper reporter. She quarrels with her father about Dan, leaves home and, taking advantage of Leap Year, asks Dan to marry her.

They are married and for the first time Cherry finds out what it means to lack money. Her struggles with housework are discouraging. Dick Shannon, movie critic of the News, is friendly with Cherry. She meets handsome Max Pearson, who also works on the News.

Cherry receives a letter from her mother enclosing a cheque for $500. She returns the cheque because she will not let her keep it. Dan undertakes to write a short story. Two days later Cherry learns her mother is critically ill. She goes home but is not allowed to see Mrs. Dixon. After a terrifying wait Cherry's father tells her the doctor is ready to see them.

CHAPTER XXVI.

Cherry was on her feet now. The eager hope that had shone in her eyes vanished as quickly as it had appeared.

Her father remained in the doorway. Not so much as a muscle seemed to change in that relentless face.

"Dr. Knowles—?" Cherry began.

"He's in the living room. We're to go there."

They went down the stairs. Cherry just a little ahead. She did not look at her father again. Through the doorway of the living room she saw the doctor standing before the fireplace.

There was a great bowl of roses on the table at the right. Cherry's mother had always kept flowers in that bowl, cutting and arranging them herself each morning. There was the basket where her mother kept the bit of sewing she liked to have handy for the hours before dinner. Nothing was changed and yet the whole room seemed empty now. Deserted.

Cherry rushed forward. "Oh, Dr. Knowles, tell me!" she cried. "I can't bear this waiting. I can't bear it! I've got to know—!"

Dr. Knowles put an arm about the girl's shoulders. "There, there!" he said soothingly. "You promised me you'd be brave and have control of yourself. We're not discouraged. Not in the least. We're making the biggest fight we know how. You must help us!"

He had known Cherry almost since babyhood, had seen her through the attack of chickenpox which, at 5, was her first illness. The girl buried her face in his shoulder. A moment later when she looked up she was dry-eyed.

Walter Dixon's deep voice broke in. He said crisply, "How is she, doctor? Has there been any change?"

The doctor nodded. "Mrs. Dixon has been resting," he said, "and rest is what she needs above all else. She slept for almost two hours this afternoon. She's awake now but we're hoping she'll drop off again before long."

He turned to Cherry. "Will you promise," he said firmly, "that if I let you see your mother for a few moments you won't become hysterical? Will you promise to go in quietly and say just a word or two and then leave?"

"Oh, yes, doctor—I promise!" "Well, then," Dr. Knowles considered, "I think it might be a good idea. Nothing must happen that could disturb her. You understand that? If she should suddenly become aroused—worried—any slight emotional disturbance just now would be dangerous. On the other hand I think she'd be pleased to know you're here. Well?"

"I'll do exactly as you say, doctor," Cherry said earnestly. "I'll—I'll be brave!"

The doctor looked across at the other man. "I think you'd better come too, Walter," he said quietly.

The three mounted the stairs and walked down the hall to Mrs. Dixon's room. A nurse—not the one Cherry had seen before—opened the door in answer to the doctor's light knock.

"She's awake," the nurse whispered and stepped back for them to enter.

A single lamp, heavily shaded, gave the only light in the room. The shades at the windows had been drawn and the furniture showed only as dark outlines casting black shadows. Against the opposite wall, just out of the lamp-light, was the great white bed.

The face on the pillow looked as colourless as the pillow slip. A tired face. Expressionless. The grey hair, drawn back severely, made the face seem old. One arm lay out over the covers.

It was Dr. Knowles who stepped forward. The tired eyes seemed to widen a trifle.

"Someone to see you," he said quietly. "I'm only going to let her stay a few moments. Cherry—?"

The girl knelt at the bedside. Her two hands, so strong and young clasped the mother's enfaded one. "Mother! Oh, Mother!" Cherry breathed the words as though they were a prayer. Her head bowed down against the covers.

"Cherry!"

It was the barest whisper but both men heard it. The girl lifted her head. There were tears in her eyes but she was smiling.

"Oh, Mother, dear, you're going to get well now in a hurry! You must."

A transformation seemed to have come over the mother's face. "My—little—girl," she whispered. But she was not looking at Cherry. Her eyes had raised. They turned toward Walter Dixon, lingered General Douglas MacArthur, Chief of Staff, who directed the operations against the B. E. F. pausing a moment to wipe his perspiring face.

pleadingly: "Walter," she said slowly. The man bowed at the other side of the bed. He did not speak. Only the eyes that had seemed so grim and unrelenting a few minutes before were veiled by a thin mist.

There was a moment of silence. Then, as though summoning supreme strength, the woman went on a waveringly: "Walter—forgive—Cherry?"

Dixon's hand slid over the coverlet. It found his wife's. Then the heavier, darker fingers clasped Cherry's. It was one of those electric moments when the stillness seems alive with a thousand voices.

The man's words broke the spell. "It's all right, Alice," he said huskily. "Everything's going to be all right as soon as you're stronger."

The nurse's starched uniform rustled in the background. Dr. Knowles stepped forward.

"You'll have to say 'good-night' now," he said with professional firmness. "It's time for Mrs. Dixon to be resting."

For an instant Cherry's lips brushed her mother's hand. She brushed her mother's hand. She brushed her mother's hand. She brushed her mother's hand.

THE WORLD OF WOMEN

BEAUTY HINTS.

Perfumed Baths.

Fragrance and friction are the secrets which make the order of the bath a rite of beauty.

The medical authority who stated recently that cosmetics were of value and that perfume added to a woman's charm, spoke the truth, but not the whole truth. Just as love has the power of beautifying partly through stimulating self-confidence, and now clothes can make a coward brave, so fragrance, by promoting a delightful sense of well-being, charms us and empowers us to charm others.

The perfumed bath, then, cannot be too strongly recommended as a definite and pleasant aid to health and beauty. The woman who expresses her personality by the use of one distinct perfume will try to procure this special fragrance for her bath, but if not available in the shops, it is a simple matter to prepare the salts at home in the following manner:—

Bath Salts

Have a wide-necked bottle or jar with a well fitting stopper, and into this spray or sprinkle a little of your perfume. Cork and shake so that the whole inside is wet with the scent. Now break up into quite small pieces some ordinary washing soda and put it into the container. Add a few drops of the perfume after each few inches of the soda and pour a little over the last before corking.

Let this stand for three days when it is ready for use and will delight you.

For those who prefer a powder to crystals, 8 ounces of borax and 2 of carbonate of soda mixed well together, may be treated in the way described above.

Oil of lavender (or other essence) is preferable for scenting bath powder, but if not easily procurable, ordinary perfume will give the desired results. For those who have no particular fancy in scent, and who like the suggestion of violets, 2½ ozs. of orris powder to the above quantities of borax and carbonate of soda will make a very pleasant bath. Orris powder does not dissolve, so it is best to tie the powder in a muslin bag.

Perfumed Starch

The woman who wants to have a velvety white skin should use starch in her bath, and, here again, by mixing 4 ozs. of orris powder to 1 lb. of powdered starch, a faint fragrance of violets results. This powder can be kept in a tin and is best used in a muslin bag. The quantity named will serve for ten baths.

There are delightful herbs which make bathing a joy and definitely promote beauty by their action on the skin, while for those who like the pungent exhilarating pine fragrance there are several inexpensive brands of pine bath salts in powder form. These are specially helpful to sufferers from rheumatism and, regularly used, help to achieve aliveness.

A lemon bath is an excellent skin whitener. Cut two or more lemons in slices, pour boiling water over them and after an hour pour the liquid into the bath water. Alternatively, cut in half, squeeze the fruit, and add the juice to the bath water. In each case have the rinses in the water and use them, well soaped, on the body.

Perfumed ammonia, now on the market, gives an invigorating bath, and vinegar or cooking salt in the water will prove stimulating. It may be mentioned here that bran, barley, and oatmeal soften water and beautify the skin, and may be used by those with tender skins to

SOMETHING NEW.

For Boys and Girls.

Both boys and girls will be fascinated by the new model-making outfits that have just been put on the market.

They consist of a sheet of thin cardboard on which is a black and white outline drawing of the model to be made—a London omnibus, for instance, complete with passengers. The drawing is in two or three sections.

With this cardboard is included a gummed sheet of paper on which are printed in colours all the parts that go to the making of the bus.

These different parts have to be sorted, cut out and stuck on to the outlined cardboard in the proper position. Finally the different sections are gummed together, and the model is complete.

Two different models are given on each sheet. They cost only 3d. the set of two.

Similar in principle but a little simpler are the picture-making and map-making puzzles.

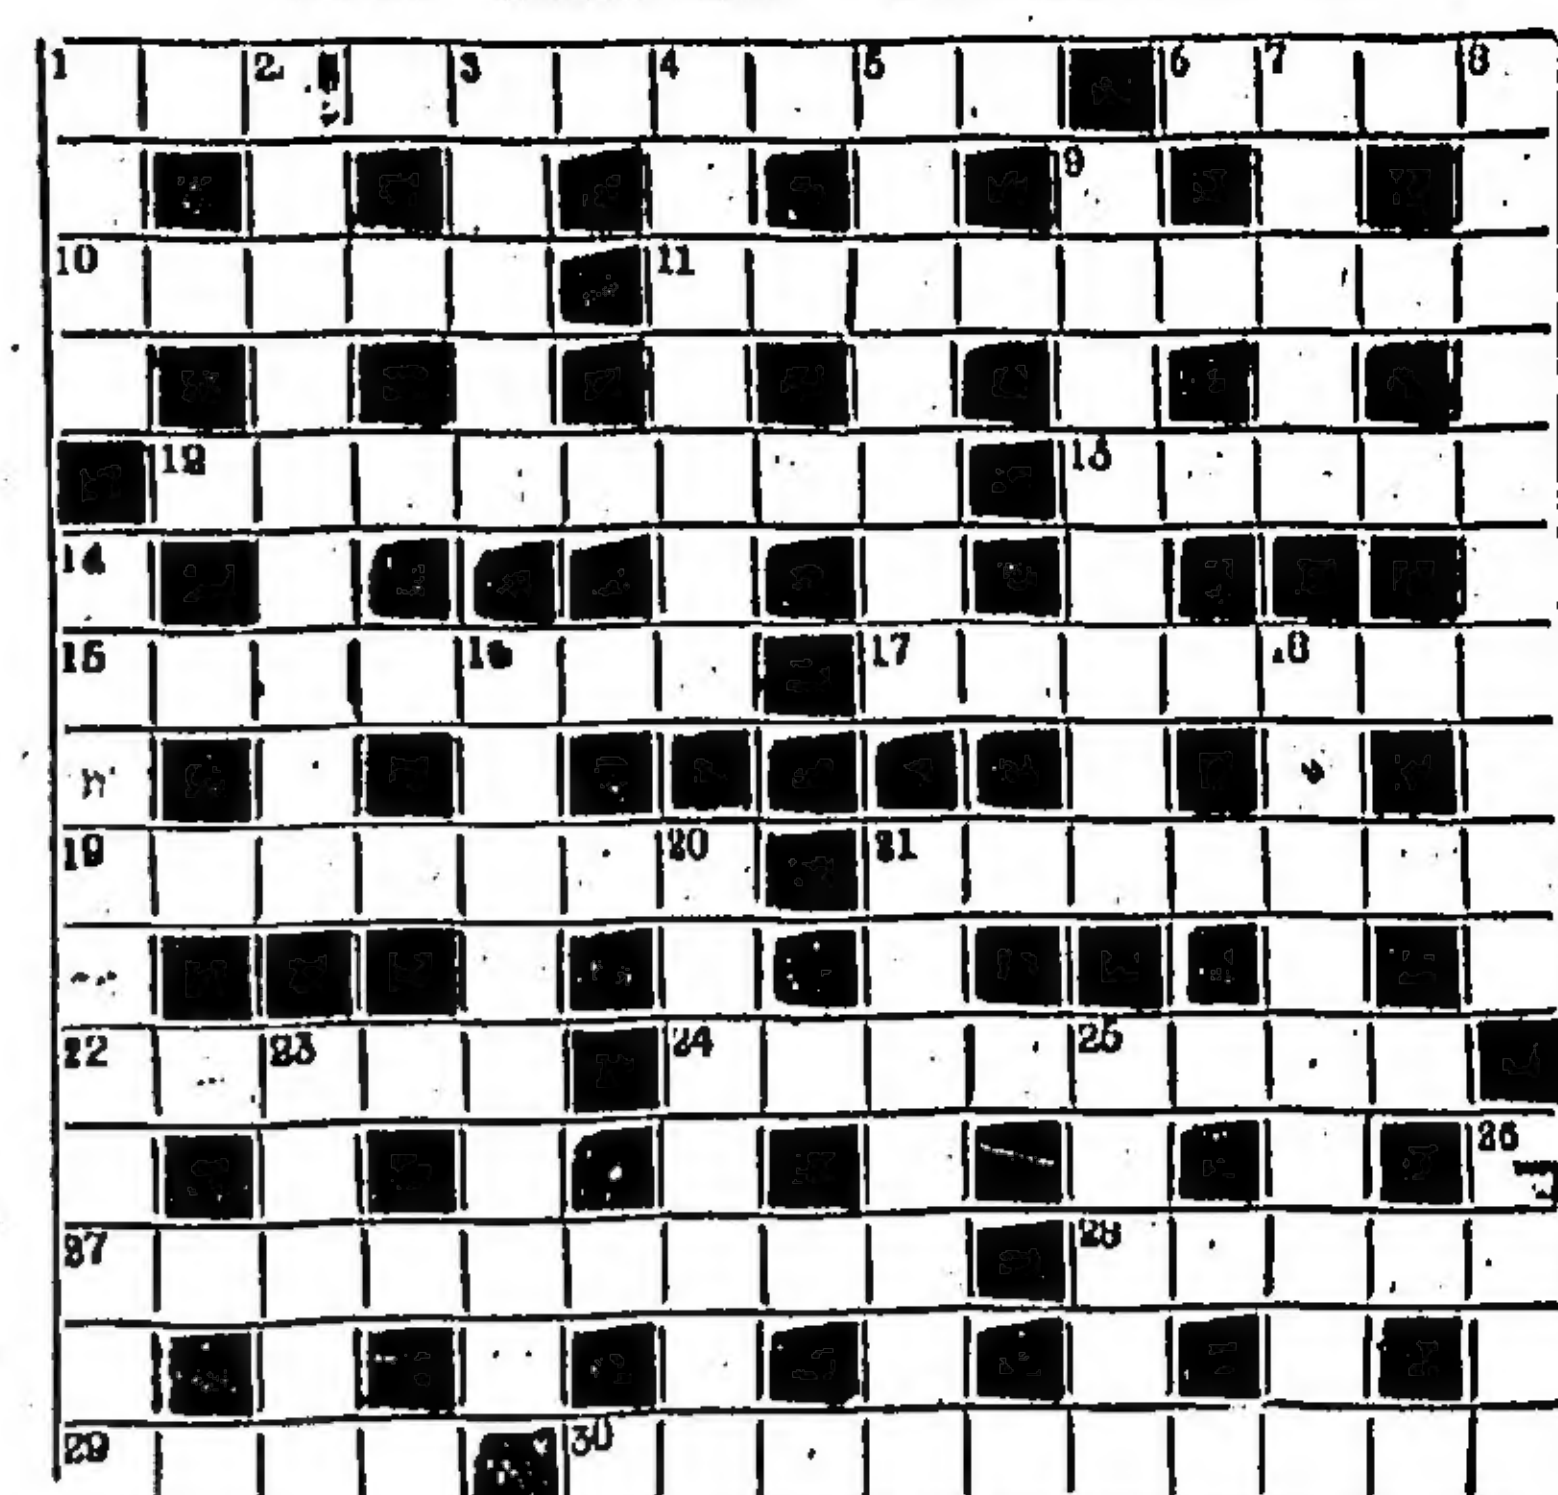

reduces the quantity of perfumed soda.

Friction

And after the fragrance comes the friction. Even when a sponge bath only is possible, rub the whole body vigorously with a rough towel until the skin glows and tingles; and the result will be a bloom of health more beautiful than classic features.

Our grandmothers were famous for their rose leaf complexion. They had not our facilities for baths, and cosmetics were rare and costly, but they knew the two beauty secrets which you are now urged to practice: fragrance and friction!

CURRENT PROBLEMS

This year's Trade Union Congress, which is to be held at Newcastle, will be noteworthy for the wide range of subjects which are to come up for consideration. Fiscal issues, together with such matters as unemployment, the social services, the political outlook, international labour, working-class education and many other questions involving the interests of organised labour will be debated. Armaments and war-making will be debated, even civil aviation will be considered, while proposals will come forward for the public control and regulation of trade, and for the acquisition by the Government, on fair terms, of the country's railways and other transport undertakings. There is promise of lively discussions on many of these subjects, as the members of the Congress represent all schools of thought in the Trade Union movement.

Naturally, unemployment figures very prominently on the agenda, in which connexion the Government is to be urged to provide work for the workless by removing the hampering restrictions on the progressive development of public works, housing schemes, slum clearance, etc., and to join with local authorities in promoting long term programmes of reconstruction. A "five point" plan for dealing with unemployment is to be put forward. This involves (a) the cancellation of Reparations and War Debts; (b) international examination and control of debts and loans between nations; (c) the removal of tariff barriers; (d) the national control of banking and monopolistic industries; (e) the taxation of land values. There are various schemes for the reorganisation of the National Health Insurance, of which the chief involves the centralisation of finance, the abolition of the panel system and establishment of a State medical service, to include specialist service and dental extension of medical service to dependents of insured workers.

In connexion with civil aviation, attention is to be directed to the chaos that has developed in the maritime industries, to the paralysis of shipbuilding, to the growth of tariffs and the consequent effect on shipping, and to the competitive factor developing from air travel. It is feared that there is a danger of the same chaos developing in international travel as between air and the mercantile marine, as has occurred between road and rail on land, and the Government will be called upon to establish a National Maritime and Civil Aviation Board to develop and co-ordinate these services with a view to utilising both to the fullest advantage in the interests of the nation, including the provision of greater and cheaper facilities for the transit of both goods and persons. All in all, the Congress will have many problems to discuss, and it is something to the good that important problems are to be discussed from a broad-minded angle.

Singing in the Bath.

Singing in the bath has long been a subject for song and story. Now it has become a subject for investigation by physicists. This is not to be wondered at. For who is there without a genuine personal concern in the matter? One may never have tried to mix the oil of tinsel gladness with the gratefully warm water of the morning tub. But he is in a small minority indeed who has not muttered at least the sentiment of Shelley's "Bird thou never wert," outside a bathroom door. Either from the outside or the inside, most people have a very active interest in the bathroom ballad. So whenever someone attempts to penetrate the subtle relationship between soap and symphonies, a large and not inexperienced audience awaits his pronouncements. Now there comes Dr. Knudsen, a professor of physics, with the opinion that the acoustical properties of bathrooms are responsible for much community entertainment. The question is not to be lightly dismissed. It is one not only of aesthetic, but of ethical and economical application as well. From the point of view of ethics it might be asked should not the gentleman, or the lady, bather consider it a duty not only to lift the bathroom ceiling, but also to let his listeners know that on certain nights he will render all-request programmes—requests for songs, be it understood, to receive preference over these for silence. From the standpoint of economics it would seem advisable for someone experienced in research to determine whether or not a certain alderman was correct in asserting that singing prolongs the bath and wastes water. Meanwhile it may be expected that every morning and every evening will be heard throughout the land the mighty chorus of soaking songsters. For if physicists can find no reason why a bathtub baritone should stop, it is almost certain that the vocal hair-raisers will not be discouraged by the doubtfulness of reasons for continuing. Song, they will say, is of the heart rather than of the head. No doubt many of them secretly feel that if Mendelssohn was accorded fame for his Songs Without Words they should at least be forgiven for their songs without reason.

CATS' CEMETERY

TWENTY-FOUR GRAVES
RECTORY GARDEN

Mrs. Fortescue, widow of Canon V. K. Fortescue (senior) Priest Canon of Coventry Cathedral, has left Corley Rectory, Warwickshire, where she had resided for twenty-six years, and the fact has come to light that while there she established a private cemetery for cats, in a portion of the grounds lying immediately between the rectory house and the parish churchyard.

There are fifteen cats' graves on one side of the footpath and nine on the other, and only a few yards distant two monumental slabs—in every particular the equivalent of those seen in churchyards and cemeteries above the graves of children and young people.

One records the death of "My darling Hobbe—her loss is desolation," followed by a Latin quotation; and the other that of "Punch—a most faithful companion for nearly seventeen years." These inscriptions are believed to refer to favourite dogs, who died at Buddenhal Rectory, where Canon Fortescue was incumbent at the time, and on his removal to Corley he took the gravestones with him. At one period, Mrs. Fortescue had nearly a score of cats at

BATCH OF BAD
DOLLARSYOUTH CHARGED WITH TENDERING

A young Chinese appeared before Mr. Schofield at the Central Police Court this morning on charges of tendering spurious dollar coins and of being in possession of eleven counterfeit coins in Main Street, Shaukiwan.

The defendant admitted possession but denied knowledge that the coins were counterfeit. Inspector G. A. Stimson informed his Worship that yesterday morning the defendant, who had come from Yaumati, went to a stall in Main Street and tendered a dollar to purchase a packet of cigarettes. A boy fifteen years of age, who was in charge of the stall, handed the man the cigarettes and 50 cents change. Shortly afterwards, the boy's father returned to the stall and discovered that the dollar which had been accepted was counterfeit.

At the moment the defendant was seen at a shop struggling with an old man. He had gone there and tendered a dollar coin for two packets of sweets which cost four cents a packet. The old man instantly noticed that the coin was bad and informed the defendant, who tendered a second one which was also bad. The old man then seized the defendant and a struggle ensued. From the defendant's pocket the old man extracted five more dollars, all of which were counterfeit. The defendant himself was seen to throw away another six.

The defendant was then taken to the Police Station. Inspector Stimson remarked that the defendant made a sad mistake when he attempted to swindle the old man, whom he apparently thought was too short-sighted to notice the coins.

The case was adjourned until Tuesday morning.

VISIT TO A SOVIET YOUTH CAMP

THE school-system of Soviet Russia probably represents one of the most amazing experiments in the history of education.

Realising that the future of the U.S.S.R. is in the hands of the young, its rulers instruct every child in the Communist faith as soon as it is able to read and write.

Last year, I visited a Young Pioneer Camp near Kiev, where 130 boys and girls were spending a holiday under canvas. The Young Pioneer Movement was originated by Lenin's wife, Madam Krupskaya, who had made a prolonged study of the British Boy Scout Movement.

Both organisations aim at teaching the children useful crafts—first-aid, swimming, the appreciation of nature, and physical instruction. But, whereas the Boy Scout movement aims primarily at inculcating the ideals of good citizenship, the object of the Young Pioneers is vastly different.

These Russian children, from 10 to 16 years of age, are told at every turn that their sole duty in life is to further the cause of Communism not only in Russia but the world over. They are imbued with the zeal to accentuate class warfare by every means in their power. To this end they are trained to fight for their beliefs whenever opportunity may happen to arise.

Only four adults were in the camp, and their duties were as follows. The first of these trained the children to absorb the doctrines of the Soviet Republic; the second gave physical, and what was considered more important, military instruction; the third was a teacher of natural science, and the last of the four was an inspector of schools whose province it was to see that the children were not taught anything contrary to the dogma of Communism.

"We Come"

The camp was divided up into groups each containing about thirty children, and when I arrived there one evening in July last, one of these groups was holding a final conference prior to leaving the camp next day. Having completed its regulation one month's holiday, it was then revelling in a final orgy of Communist oratory calculated to send each child home burning with enthusiasm for the cause.

All at once, from the trees behind me came a shout from another group of children. Between the tall pines they came marching with Prussian regularity, chanting in unison the slogan "We come, We, the men of Voroshiloff." (Voroshiloff is the Commander of the Red Army).

Shortly afterwards, I was able to speak to some of these children. They almost quarrelled with one another for precedence in speaking to the "Englishman."

"Are you a Rabotchi (worker)?" was the first question fired at me.

This was followed in quick succession by a host of other queries.

"Are the workers badly oppressed in your country?"

"Do working-class children go to the same schools as the children of the rich?"

"How many Communists are there in Scotland?"

These questions are enough to show how thoroughly they had been permeated with "Red" propaganda. Now it was my turn to cross-examine.

"What do you wish to be when you are a man?" I asked one little fellow of fourteen.

"An electrical engineer," came the prompt reply.

"Why?" I continued.

"Because I want to build up industry," was the retort of this prodigy.

Caught Young

"Would you like to be a Red Army man?" I enquired of another.

"We will all be Red Army men if the necessity should arise," said he proudly. The look of determination that shone in the eyes of his comrades clearly showed that opinion was unanimous on this point.

No visitor to Russia to-day can fail to be impressed by the enormous advance made by bodies like the Commissariat of Education, the Young Communist League, and the Young Pioneers, in harnessing the youth of the nation to the State machine. Their object, openly acknowledged by those who control them, is to inspire in the young a complete acceptance of Communism, and the necessity for an increasing class war against Capitalism in all its forms.

Girls, You Must See
This Drama!By Edward Kelly, Darling of the Gods.

Someone told us the other day that the A.D.C. were going to give another show this season.

Realising as we do the tremendous organisation necessary in preparing these sort of things, we are going to offer our services.

We were discussing the matter only last night with another famous theatricalist, and we think that more local colour should be infused into the proceedings.

We have prepared our own programme.

Not a turn will be left unstoned—stone left unturned—to make this show a huge success.

No effort will be spared to place before the public of Hongkong an outstanding performance by the Colony's leading artists.

Superlatives are inadequate in speaking of this powerful, fascinating and dramatic epic of the stage. There are no adjectives capable of describing this immortal, super, special attraction. (Cravings of pardon to Hollywood).

Well, we've warned you. Here it is.

VON PAPEN OFFENDS
SOCIALISTS

cellor or weep over his meteoric projection into the national picture.

But none can blink the fact that he is the man chosen by Hindenburg to serve the key position in this sudden surge of the Junkers to the top.

And none can blink the fact that the Monarchists, in office or out, at last have come boldly to the fore in national politics with a determination that the warring rival parties find hard to resist.

MILITARY ATTACHE.

Who is this man who but for his diplomatic immunity might have languished in an American prison?

Franz von Papen was born Oct. 29, 1879, at Werl in Westphalia of an old Catholic, aristocratic family, which owned great estates in that region.

Like so many of his class in the old days of the German monarchy, he naturally turned to the army for his career.

Just before the World War, at 35, he was sent to Washington as military attache to the German embassy. When the World War broke out, he was one of the coterie of Germans who sought to interfere with the manufacture of munitions in America for the Allies account.

In the winter of 1915 the American government invited him to leave. Von Papen was then posted to the general staff of the Turkish army where he served the balance of the war.

OUT OF TOUCH.

The conflict over and Germany a republic, Von Papen retired to his estates, but in 1924 he began taking an interest in politics and as a member of the Catholic Centre party, was elected to the Prussian Landtag.

He soon began to find himself out of touch and sympathy with his party. The Centre leaned towards the Left, often collaborating with the Socialists. Von Papen, swayed violently to the Right and was a Nationalist in all but name.

It has now been revealed that for months before the crash Von Papen had been working to undermine Brüning.

MYSTERY PHASE.

Another mysterious phase of his activities is his reputed pro-French twist, which has caused the Nationalists themselves to look at him askance. In the Saar and in Luxembourg, Von Papen is reputed to have made speeches favouring closer relations between Germany and France.

An ardent Catholic, it is said he maintained close relations with leading French Catholics, who, like himself, were sounding the ground for a better understanding.

DICTATORSHIP?

Even the Nationalist press, despite the fact that his Cabinet is filled with generals and obscure Nationalist barons, are shy of him, because of his supposed pro-French activities. Papers and people of all sorts are derisive of the position and point out that the Socialists, the Nazis and the Centre—which have the bulk of the votes—are not represented in the Cabinet.

On the other hand, in so far as they represent anything, the Cabinet Ministers represent parties, which have been swiftly declining both in votes and in power.

Knowing all these things, it is suggested that the triumvirate, composed of Hindenburg, Von Papen and his minister of Reichswehr, General von Schleicher, propose to rule the country. The feeling in Germany is that the triumvirate will yet balk the Nazis and continue to rule Germany.

Picture shows the colourful scene at the opening of the Imperial Conference in Ottawa. The Earl of Bessborough is reading the message from H. M. the King.

The Earl of Bessborough, Governor General of Canada, is shown above at a review of the Footguards on his estate at Ottawa, during the Imperial Conference.

This picture which was taken outside the House of Commons in Ottawa, shows scene as citizens and soldiers lined up outside the tall-towered building to attend the arrival of the Imperial Conference delegates.

years will be shown on Thursday at the Queen's Theatre. This is "Mata Hari," the picture which co-stars Greta Garbo and Ramon Novarro, a cinema event which aroused the keenest anticipation during the entire time in which the work was in production.

"Mata Hari" which from the viewpoint of story, direction, settings and photography is said to establish a new standard for photoplay achievements, is made further distinctive by a supporting cast which includes such important film names as Lionel Barrymore, who recently was awarded the academy trophy for the most masculine performance of 1931; Lewis Stone, C. Henry Gordon, Karen Morley and Alec B. Francis. Minor roles are filled by Blanche Frederici, Edmund Breese, Helen Jerome Eddy and Frank Kuehner. It was directed by George Fitzmaurice, who scored with the Norma Shearer production, "Strangers With Kiss."

The unanimous opinion of critics who have seen previews of "Mata Hari" is that it is the most ambitious, the most profoundly stirring and the most glamorous production in which Miss Garbo or Novarro have ever appeared. Both stars are cast in roles which depart from the general trend of their previous characterizations and which give them every opportunity for both romantic and dramatic work of the first order.

Miss Garbo in the title role plays the exotic Mata Hari, whose notorious career as a dancer and woman of many affairs is but a cover for her nefarious activities as a spy for the German government. Miss Garbo, who may always be depended on for the unusual, appears in an entirely new hair-dress in "Mata Hari" and wears what has been described as a dazzling series of exotic and extreme costumes. The settings are likewise reported to be the most lavish and unusual yet turned out by this studio.

"After To-morrow."

The fearsome and awe-inspiring heights of New York's cloud-piercing Empire State building, tallest man-made structure on earth, will provide dramatic setting for the opening scene of "After To-morrow," new Fox Film production opening tomorrow at the King's Theatre in which Charles Farrell and Marion Nixon are featured.

Fox cameramen in New York scrambled over and around the famous dirigible mooring mast atop the tower, and to the peaks of nearby skyscrapers, to photograph the landmark and the mooring of the great efforts are said to present one of the city below. The results of their efforts are to present one of the most spectacular scenic backgrounds ever conceived for a motion picture.

"After To-morrow," as directed by Frank Borzage, maker of "7th Heaven" and "Bad Girl," is a screen adaptation of one of New York's latest stage successes. Nina Combs, William Collier, Sr., and Josephine Hull are featured in the cast with Farrell and Miss Nixon. It was adapted for the screen by Sonya Levien from the play of John Golden and Hugh Stange.

"Rich Man's Folly."

George Bancroft, star in the spectacular melodrama, "Rich Man's Folly," which is now showing at the Oriental Theatre, has abandoned make-up in his character roles. He has definite reasons for doing so. He never used make-up to any great extent. He has always played rugged characters and, having a rugged physique and wrinkled countenance, he only indulged lightly in the use of grease paint and colour sticks. Recently he rebelled against all make-up and was the first prominent star to do so. A number of other actors of note have followed his lead.

"The Outsider."

Judged by both artistic canons and from the angle of entertainment, "The Outsider," which is at the King's Theatre, is an achievement in cinema technique. Undoubtedly one of the greatest successes of the British speaking stage, "The Outsider" enjoyed a phenomenal run a few years ago at the St. James's Theatre. In New York, too, it was equally as popular. It had a splendid run, and was unanimously conceded by the critics as the most engrossing of all English plays. Since that item it has toured every important town in the country, and was recently revived in London for a further triumphant run at the Apollo Theatre. And now you see the film version! It is even more sensational—with an impressive cast recruited from the stage and screen, two of whom, the celebrated Harold Ruth and Norman McKinnel, appeared in the original roles.

The story is full of tense drama, it is gripping and intensely human. The settings are ultra-modern and amazingly artistic, and the photography as well as the recording are equally good. Director Harry Lachman indeed deserves splendid credit. He has adroitly availed himself of all the clever details in the story to emphasize its charm and pathos, and brings out the denouement in masterful style.

YANKEES PRACTICALLY UNCATCHABLEIncrease Advantage to 11 1/2 Games

New York, Aug. 29.

Only a miracle could now encompass the failure of the New York Yankees to carry off the American League pennant. The only challengers, the Athletics, shared a double header with Detroit to-day and were lucky to win the first game.

The Yankees won both their games with Chicago and have again relieved the 700 mark in the standings.

St. Louis succumbed to Washington only in the thirteenth inning. Kress hit a home run valiantly for Chicago. McNair produced a valuable fourmaster for the Athletics, and Rogell contributed largely to Detroit's victory in the nightcap.

There was no play in the National League.

KENT WIND UP STRONGLY

BEAT ESSEX BY INNINGS

MAY FINISH THIRD
IN TABLE

London, Aug. 29.
Kent wound up their county cricket programme with a handsome win over Essex, beating them in two days by an innings and 48 runs, and unless Nottingham defeat Lancashire, the "hoppers" should secure third in the championship table, a position they occupied last year.

B. H. Valentine, C. S. Marriott
(the brilliant schoolmaster googly bowler) and Freeman shared the honours in this match.

Valentine compiled a splendid 180 out of a total of 404, although O'Connor had a finger in the pie of achievements by capturing 5 wickets for 75 runs—no mean feat in view of the visitors' total.

Essex were completely at sea against Freeman and Marriott.
Their first venture concluded at 196 (Freeman 6-100 and Marriott
4-55) and following on they fared even worse, being dismissed for 160 (Freeman 4-67 and Marriott
6-47).

In one of the last matches of the tour, All India were soundly beaten by Sir Julien Cahn's XI in a two-days match, the Baronet's team winning by an innings and 26 runs.

The Indians opened with a score of 152 to which Cahn's eleven replied with 342 and then dismissed the visitors a second time for less than 200, the final wicket falling at 164.—Reuter.

Sharkey's Next Opponent

BRITISH "CHAMP" MAY BE GIVEN CHANCE

New York, Aug. 18.
Madison Square Garden corporation still is excited about the $429,000 the customers paid to see Jack Sharkey win Max Schmeling's heavyweight title, and it is planned to work "big boys" as often as the public wants to look at them.

The Garden is inaugurating an elimination tournament "to pick a worthy foe for Jack Sharkey next summer." The first step will be a 15-round battle between Ernie Schaaf, Sharkey protegee from Boston, and Paulino Uzcudun, the "bouncing Basque," in the Garden
Bowl at Long Island City, July 25.

Peterson Has Chance.
Jimmy Johnston, Garden manager, has advised leading heavyweights to start getting in shape for 15-round battles. The plan is to narrow down the field to a single outstanding contender to meet Schmeling at Miami during the winter, with the winner to get a chance at Sharkey next summer.
The Garden is busy at present lining up American heavyweights, as well as the foreigners considered outstanding. Johnston has announced that Harry Peterson, new heavyweight champion of England, will appear in the series of get, at an average speed of 69.93 miles an hour.

Two Alfa-Romeos took fourth and fifth places, driven respectively by Earl Howe and Sir Henry

NANKING SESSION.

HU HAN-MIN'S SECRETARY REPRESENTS CANTON

Canton, Aug. 29.

As the result of the South-western Political Council meeting, the leaders have decided to appoint Mr. Li Shin-kan, former secretary and close associate of Mr. Hu Han-min and Superintendent of the Canton-Shiukwan Railway, to visit Nanking to meet the Kuomintang politicians on the Third Kuomintang Plenary Meeting.

There are numerous rumours prevailing concerning Mr. Li's visit, as it indicates that Mr. Hu Han-min still pays much attention to Nanking developments.

Mr. Li will leave here this morning for Hongkong to see Mr. Hu Han-min before going north.

In some quarters it is said that Mr. Li is visiting Nanking to see General Chan Ming-shu and Tsai Ting-kai, of the Nineteenth Route Army, representing General Chan Chai-tong, to make an important offer to the Nineteenth Route Army.

Urgent Summons.

Shanghai, Aug. 29.
The appointment of General Tsai Ting-kai, famous officer of the Nineteenth Route Army who visited Hongkong recently, to be Chairman of the Fukien Provincial Government has been announced semi-officially in Nanking.

General Tsai Ting-kai and Mr. T. V. Soong, the Finance Minister, returned to Nanking from Shanghai yesterday in Mr. Soong's aeroplane. CHINA'S REPLY

PEACE RESTS WITH JAPAN

Nanking, Aug. 29.

"There will be no peace or prosperity for Manchuria until all the Japanese troops have been withdrawn," declares the Foreign Minister, Mr. Lo Wen-kan, in the course of a lengthy statement in reply to Count Uchida's speech in the Japanese Diet on August 25.

Mr. Lo Wen-kan emphasises, first of all, that it rests entirely with Japan herself to improve or restore Sino-Japanese relations.

Secondly, China will never surrender an inch of her territory, nor any of her sovereign rights, under stress of military force, which she is determined to resist to the best of her ability.

Thirdly, China will never agree to any solution of the present situation which takes into account the "puppet organisation in Manchuria established, maintained and controlled by the Japanese military forces."—Reuter.

clung to the fingers, then slowly released them. "Good-night, Mother," she said softly as she rose. "I'll be in the morning."

Dixon did not speak again. The two men and the girl fled out of the room.

In the hall with the door closed behind them Dr. Knowles fumbled for his watch, found it and announced hurriedly, "Well, I'll have to be off. I'll telephone in an hour or two. Sleep is what she needs now. If she can get that it's a big gain. Good night, Cherry. Good night, Walter!"

The doctor's broad shoulders disappeared down the stairway. Cherry raised her eyes timidly to meet her father's. Suddenly the girl was in his arms, her face buried against his coat, and she was sobbing desperately.

He tried to quiet her. Cherry's shoulders rose and sank convulsively.

"Don't," Dixon said. "You mustn't cry this way. Your mother may hear you."

"It's my fault!" the girl moaned brokenly. "It's my fault she's like this!"

Dixon's arm tightened about his daughter. "There's no use saying such things," he told her heavily. "Or thinking them. We've all made mistakes."

"I can't help it," Cherry protested. "Oh, if anything should happen..."

"Knowles says she has a chance. It all depends on these next few days."

The girl did not answer. Her sobbing continued less violently. Dixon patted her shoulders. It was as near a caress as Cherry could remember having received from her father.

"I think you'd better spend the night here," he told her. "The nurse will let us know if there's any chance. Now, Cherry, you must pull yourself together!"

She raised her head and the tremulous lips made an effort at steadiness. For an instant Cherry's eyes met her father's. Neither spoke but in that instant each understood the other.

Dixon went downstairs and Cherry returned to her bedroom. She saw that Sarah had laid out a dainty nightgown and dressing robe. The light from the dressing table fell on rose satin cushions, throwing them into dazzling brilliance. There was a soft breeze stirring the curtain gently.

The girl paused. Was it real or all some horrible nightmare? Here she was in her own room. Had she ever been away? Could it be true that her mother lay in that bed in a room down the hall as though undecided between life and death?

Cherry was swept by an impulse she had not known since childhood. She crossed the room, knelt at the side of the bed and pressing the palms of her two hands together, began to pray.

When Sarah entered 10 minutes later the girl was standing before the open window. Sarah carried a tray.

"You must eat something," she urged soothingly. "You know you can't be makin' yourself sick."

"I don't want to eat," Cherry said wearily.

However she sat down in the big chair before which Sarah had drawn a small table and set down the tray. There was hot broth, a salad and tea. The food was appetizing and Cherry ate more than she had expected to. Presently she pushed the tray away.

"I'll have to telephone," she said. "I'm going to stay here to-night."

She called the number of the apartment and after a time Dan answered. He said yes, he had found her note. Was her mother any better? He hoped she would be soon. A few more words and the conversation was at an end.

Sarah bustled about getting the room ready for the night. There was the sound of water running in the bathtub and then Sarah said, "Your bath, Miss Cherry."

The girl undressed and bathed mechanically. Before she got into bed the nurse tapped at the door. "Your mother's dropped asleep again," she said. "I thought you'd like to know."

"Does that mean—?"

"It's a good sign. I've just talked to the doctor and he was pleased."

The nurse departed. Cherry turned out the light and slipped between the fresh linen sheets. The bed was as soft as down. There was no sound but the faint rustling of the trees outside the window. The breeze was fresh and comforting.

Cherry closed her eyes and tried to sleep but the silence of the house seemed ominous. She repeated the doctor's reassurances. "She must get well!" she told herself. "She's going to get well!"

But in spite of this instance the girl did not sleep. She turned and tossed and finally gave up the effort to stare open-eyed at the ceiling.

She was still awake hours later when there came a knock at the door. It was the nurse again.

"Your mother," she explained hastily. "I think you'd better come!"

(To be continued).

WHY YOU GET INDIGESTION

Do you know that when you suffer pain after eating or get some other form of digestive disturbance, the trouble is almost certain to arise from excess acid in the stomach? This acid attacks the stomach lining, makes and still more acid to form. Unless promptly counteracted the excess acidity will develop into serious stomach trouble and may even cause ulcers. The only sure way of banishing digestive trouble is to neutralise the excess acid that is the underlying cause and this is most quickly and surely done by taking half a teaspoonful of "Bisurated" Magnesia or two or three tablets in water after meals. All trace of excess acid is instantly neutralised, fermentation is stopped, pain and discomfort disappear and normal digestion is restored. Every chemist can supply "Bisurated" Magnesia, and you cannot get a better, quicker or surer remedy for indigestion.

BOYS TAUGHT BY WOMEN

ARE THEY MORE LIKELY TO BE CRIMINALS?

The suggestion that boys taught by women teachers are more likely to become young criminals than those taught by men is made by Miss Charlotte Cowdroy, headmistress of Crouch End High School for girls, whose outspokenness on education matters is well known.

This appears in a pamphlet written by Miss Cowdroy which has been sent to members of Parliament by the National Association of Schoolmasters.

Miss Cowdroy says she is convinced that from their eighth year boys need quite different handling from girls.

In the case of young boys well-meaning and conscientious women teachers may do endless harm.

Emotion and Chivalry.

"A woman talks to a boy and preaches to him. She appeals to his emotion and his chivalry," she says.

"The lad who can be made good or made to appear good by such means is likely to lack moral fibre and the masculinity that is unconsciously fostered by a man teacher. The boy's external behaviour may be even better under a woman, but what of the inner boy?"

"No woman has the capacity to understand boy psychology, which a man possesses from the very fact of his manhood."

"An individual man may be less clever, less able to pass examinations, may even have less capacity for teaching than an individual woman, but nature has made him a man and a boy is a man in the making."

Miss Cowdroy says that in no countries in the world do women play such a preponderant part in education as in England since the War and in the United States. "Is it a coincidence," she asks, "that in the two countries where boys are taught by women we find the clever, sunny young criminal in large numbers? Wit and sometimes manners are polished and used to prey on others, particularly on the weak and unsuspecting, at the least possible risk to themselves."

Lack Manliness.

"It is idle to say that it is only unemployment that is responsible

LONDON STREET CONTROL ON BUSINESS LINES

GOVERNMENT POWERS
CURTAILED

TRUSTEES TO SELECT BOARD

In order to remove the risk of political interference in constituting a business body, modifications are to be made to the London Passenger Transport Bill, delegating the appointment of the chairman and other members of the Board of five trustees representative of public concerns, and transferring powers, formerly allotted to the Minister of Transport, to the Railway Rates Tribunal.

These are outlined in a statement issued by the Minister of Transport.

"It is proposed to provide in the Bill," the statement points out, "for the setting up of five appointing trustees, who will be persons holding office for the time being in statutory or professional bodies, such as:

The Chairman of the London County Council.

A representative of the London and Home Counties Traffic Advisory Committee.

The Chairman of the Committee of London Clearing Bankers.

The President of the Institute of Chartered Accountants of England.

for the present outbreak of crime, as unemployment bears more heavily on the older men, whereas the chief criminals to-day are the younger men.

"Can one imagine a surer way to turn the world into pandemonium than by letting loose in it a horde of youths whose brains have been well trained, but who lack balance, manliness, and character?"

"Many women teachers consider the statement that they are less suited than men for teaching boys denotes some inferiority in themselves. It is not more to their discredit than the fact that they cannot grow beards. Each is simply one of the facts implicit in their womanhood."

"The mother is the one woman above all others who can affect for good a young lad."

505-Miles-an-Hour Wind

Juneau, Alaska.—Despite brilliant sunshine, gentle winds and balmy atmosphere prevailing at the time, weather tests made here with a captive balloon from the top of the Federal and Territorial Building showed that 25,000 feet in the air a wind was blowing at the speed of 505 miles an hour. The test was made at 2.30 p.m. and was the highest ever made in Alaska. The surface wind, blowing at the rate of 15 miles an hour at sea level, was north-north-east while at the 25,000-foot level the gale was blowing east-south-east.

and Wales:

The President of the Law Society.

"This body (in place of the Minister of Transport) would be charged with the duty of appointing the Chairman and other members of the London Passenger Transport Board, whose qualifications would be those set out in the Bill, and fixing their terms of office within the limits prescribed and filling vacancies on the Board."

Providing Facilities.

"It is proposed to transfer to the Railway Rates Tribunal," the statement adds, "the power to order new or improved services and facilities and other analogous powers, leaving with the Minister of Transport only those duties which are ordinarily imposed upon him by Parliament in regard to statutory transport authorities, or are modifications of his existing statutory duties, or are matters of machinery."

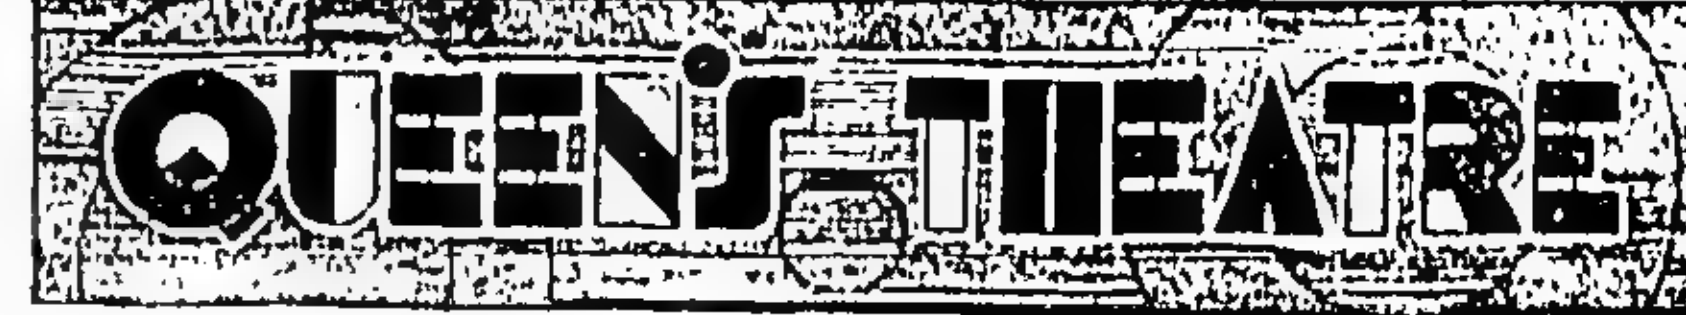

"The powers and duties so proposed to be transferred to the Railway Rates Tribunal are:

Power to make an Order on the Board requiring them to provide new or improved services or facilities or to restore or continue services.

Power to make an Order on the Board or any of the amalgamated railway companies in case of difference arising between them in a matter of services or facilities.

Power to make an Order on any of the amalgamated railway companies requiring them to provide new or improved services or facilities or to restore or continue services.

Two additional members will be added to the Railway Rates Tribunal, of whom one is to be a person having experience in matters relating to local government in London, and the other a person having experience in financial affairs.

NANKING THREATENS WAR ON MANCHUKUO

SHANGHAI CRISIS

JAPANESE TRADE WRECKED

NO NEW DEVELOPMENT

(Telegraph Special.)

Shanghai, Aug. 30. Nothing has occurred further to exacerbate Sino-Japanese bitterness, though the Japanese marine patrols in the Hongkew and Yangtsepoo Districts have been doubled.

The boycott campaign is being pressed incessantly and there is little doubt that the men behind the movement are influential figures, certainly not irresponsibles over whom the Chinese authorities could not be expected to exercise control.

The seriousness with which Chinese firms in Shanghai are taking the threats of the "Blood and Iron Corps" and "Corps for the Extermination of Traitors," is clearly shown by the Chinese newspapers.

BUSINESS DENIALS.

Every day now these journals contain only or more prominent advertisements denying that the advertising firms are dealing in "enemy goods" apparently in the hope of warding off possible bomb attacks which these anti-Japanese societies have been threatening.

Unofficial figures suggest that the Japanese importations into Shanghai have fallen by over eighty per cent, and the feeling among Japanese residents is undoubtedly increasing in ratio to the breakdown of their trade.—Reuter.

SUTCLIFFE MAKES 3,000 RUNS

ANOTHER RECORD ESTABLISHED

London, Aug. 29.

Herbert Sutcliffe, the famous Yorkshire and England batsman, to-day completed his 3,000 runs for the season, the third time in his career and the second season in succession.

He is the only player in first-class cricket who has scored 3,000 runs in a season three times. He now has a distinctly good chance of beating his own record aggregate, in fact, it would be almost impossible that he should not do so. His 1928 figures were 3,002 and his 1931 figures were 3,005.

The record is held by Tom Hayward (Surrey), who in 61 innings in 1906 obtained 3,518 runs.—British Wireless.

LYTTON REPORT NEARLY READY

LEADER GOING HOME NEXT WEEK

Peking, Aug. 30.

The Lytton Commission has so far advanced with its labours on its Report to the League of Nations that the Earl of Lytton has arranged to fly to Shanghai on Monday next on his way to England.

M. Dladol and Dr. Schneer are arranging to travel to Europe via Siberia.—Reuter.

ANGLO-IRISH PEACE PROSPECT

MR. SEAN O'KELLY INTERVIEWED.

London, Aug. 29. Mr. Sean O'Kelly, and thirteen other members of the Irish Free State delegation to Ottawa, reached Southampton this afternoon.

In an interview, he referred to his frequent informal conversations with the Dominion Secretary, Mr. J. H. Thomas on the Irish question. He agreed with Mr. Thomas that no door had been closed to peace and, in his opinion, there was a much better atmosphere of friendliness as a result of their deliberations.—British Wireless.

LAST DEBT TO BE PAID

BRITAIN AND LOAN FROM FRANCE

CRISIS CREDITS DISAPPEAR

London, Aug. 29.

Britain's recovery from the financial crisis of last Autumn is beyond a doubt remarkable.

With the payment, which is to be made on September 10, of the sum of Frs. 2,500,000,000 to France, Dr. J. P. L. will have repaid in full the entire amount of the huge foreign credits obtained by the Treasury last year in an attempt to prevent the break with the gold standard.

It will be recalled that the credits—totalled G$200,000,000 from the United States and Frs. 5,000,000,000 from France, of which latter sum, half was advanced by the banks and the remainder was subscribed for by the French public in the form of bonds.

RIGHTS LAPSE.

The whole of the American credit was repaid in March and April last, with the right to re-borrow G$50,000,000 at any time up to August 28, but the right has now been exercised and will now finally lapse.

The portion of the French credit granted by the banks was also repaid in March, with the right to re-borrow at any time up to September 10. Not only will this right not be exercised, but the remaining Frs. 2,500,000,000 will be repaid at due date, thereby extinguishing the whole of the amount of the credits.

INACCURATE REPORTS.

In view of entirely inaccurate reports current in certain quarters during the last few days regarding the repayment of credits obtained last year from the United States it has been necessary to restate that all the sums drawn against that credit have been finally repaid and that the whole of the foreign credits acquired in the emergency last summer, whether current, or in the form of contingent rights, will shortly have disappeared, repayment in all cases having been made in full.—Reuter and British Wireless.

MOLLISON HITS A THUNDERSTORM

FORCED DOWN IN NOVA SCOTIA

New York, Aug. 30.

Weather conditions appear to be conspiring to hamper Mr. J. A. Mollison in his efforts to complete arrangements for his return flight to England.

A message from Sydney, Nova Scotia, states that the airman landed safely in a field near Sydney during a thunderstorm. He was bound for Harbour Grace. His machine was not damaged.—Reuter.

Expedition Would Follow Japanese Recognition

REPLY TO COUNT UCHIDA

MILITARY CLAUSES IN JAPAN'S TREATY

REUTER'S NANKING CORRESPONDENT REPORTS THIS MORNING THAT WELL-INFORMED CHINESE NEWSPAPERS IN THE CAPITAL DECLARE THAT, IN THE EVENT OF JAPANESE RECOGNITION OF THE MANCHUKUO GOVERNMENT, THE CENTRAL GOVERNMENT INTENDS TO ORDER A PUNITIVE EXPEDITION AGAINST MANCHUKUO.

In the meantime, Yang Yu-lin, Governor of Jehol, has been instructed to offer armed resistance to any further Japanese attempt at invasion of the province. It is believed that the arrival in Manchuria of General Muto, who has been given control over the army as well as diplomatic affairs, will mark the commencement of a general onslaught against Jehol.

It may be noted that General Muto has with him the draft of the treaty which Japan expects to conclude with Mr. Pu Yi before formal recognition is extended.

Details of the treaty, disclosed at Changchun, reveal that Manchukuo and Japan are to be allied for peace and for war. In the event of an attack by a third Power, such as Russia or China, Japan and Manchukuo will combine forces in the subsequent war.

TOKYO POLITICAL CRISIS BREACH BETWEEN GOVERNMENT AND THE SEIYUKAI

(SPECIAL TO THE "TELEGRAPH").

While the Saito Government is proceeding boldly with its policy regarding Manchuria, it is being beset by serious domestic difficulties which may yet bring about its downfall.

There is no doubt to-day that the political situation is rapidly reaching the critical stage. The atmosphere is tense and all hope has been abandoned that the Government and the Seiyukai will agree on the measures introduced into the Diet for the revision of the rice laws.

The Seiyukai is demanding more drastic measures for the relief of the farming community.—Reuter.

JAPANESE BOXER INDEMNITY

RETENTION AGAIN CONTEMPLATED

Shanghai, Aug. 30. Prior to his departure for Nanking, Mr. T. V. Soong told newspaper correspondents that the question of a blockade of the Manchukuo Customs was still under discussion.

The Government, he added, was also giving serious consideration to the retention of the Japanese Boxer Indemnity since the Dairen Customs revenue for July had not been received.—Reuter.

SILVER OUTLOOK UNCERTAIN

HONGKONG DOLLAR UNALTERED

The silver situation at the moment is uncertain, with the result that very little business is passing in Hongkong, the dollar remaining unchanged at 1s. 4.3/8d. In London, silver advanced 1/8th, the rise being chiefly due to India buying.—The Market Close.

THE LANCASHIRE STRIKE

OPERATIVES NOT TOGETHER

London, Aug. 29. The extent to which the Lancashire cotton weavers have responded to the call of their union to go out on strike is not yet fully known, but from reports available in various centres it would appear that a considerable number of mills are at work and in some towns in the south and south-east of Lancashire, conditions are almost normal.

In North Lancashire, notably in Burnley, Nelson, Preston and Accrington, however, very few operatives started work to-day.—British Wireless.

HOME FOOTBALL.

MILLWALL TRIUMPH

WEST HAM'S POOR START

VILLA WIN AGAIN

London, Aug. 29. Half the teams in the English Football League embarked upon their second engagements of the season to-day and the results gave an early indication that the competitions will be as keen as ever they were.

In the first division, of ten teams who have played twice, only Aston Villa have won twice and only Leeds, the promoted side, have lost twice. In the second division, Bradford City and Millwall have won twice and West Ham and Charlton have lost twice. In the third division, of twenty teams playing twice, only Brentford in the South and Accrington in the North have won twice and none of the remaining eighteen teams is without a point.

BEST PERFORMANCE.

The best performance of the day was the victory of Millwall at Stoke, who on Saturday had defeated Manchester United 2-0 at Manchester. West Ham, relegated from the senior division, have started wretchedly in the second. To-day they were beaten 4-2 at home by Bradford City.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By W. E. McKenney.

I have selected the following as the most interesting and unusual hand of the 1932 All-American bridge tournament recently held in Cleveland.

It employs a compound triple squeeze and it somewhat resembles a double dummy problem.

tracting with a forcing bid of two diamonds as the hand does not contain over three losing cards.

The hand is also ideally suited to a bid employed by Mr. P. H.
(Hul) Sims, captain of the Four Horsemen. He advocates a three forcing bid which demands that partner show his ace. If this bid were employed, South would start with three diamonds.

North, holding two aces, has a difficult problem. If he bids four diamonds, he may not get an opportunity to show his ace of hearts, so perhaps his best bid is to show his ace of hearts immediately by bidding three hearts. This bid of three hearts would be made if North's hand contained only the ace of hearts—it does not necessarily show a heart suit as the hand in this case happens to hold.

With the information that partner's hand contains the ace of hearts, South would be justified in making a bid of six diamonds. He can see that his only possible losing tricks are the ace of diamonds and the nine of spades, and certainly he has a right to feel that the nine of spades could be safely taken care of by North. If South were to bid six diamonds, North now, holding the ace of diamonds, should go to seven.

The Play.

The play is very pretty. West opens the eight of spades, East plays the ten and the declarer wins with the ace. Declarer runs off all of his diamonds but one, plays his ace of clubs and king of spades and the hand was reduced as follows:

North	East
Spades:—None	Spades:—Q
Hearts:—A-10	Hearts:—K-J
Diamonds:—None	Diamonds:—None
Clubs:—Q	Clubs:—None
West	East
Spades:—None	Spades:—Q
Hearts:—K-J	Hearts:—K-J
Diamonds:—None	Diamonds:—None
Clubs:—K	Clubs:—None
South
Spades:—8
Hearts:—4
Diamonds:—2
Clubs:—None

Declarer now leads the deuce of diamonds. West is squeezed and is forced to discard the jack of hearts to protect his club. The club is then discarded from dummy and East is squeezed. The discard of the queen of spades will make declarer's nine good, while the discard of a heart will make dummy's two hearts good.

PUMP MOTORS STOLEN.

THREE CHINESE SENTENCED
AT POLICE COURT

Three Chinese stood before Mr.
Schofield at the Central Police Court yesterday afternoon, two charged with larceny of three pump motors and the other with receiving two of the motors knowing them to have been stolen or unlawfully obtained.

The men accused of theft admitted the charges while the receiver pleaded guilty to the first count but denied the second.

Detective Sergeant Kennedy, who prosecuted, accepted the plea of guilty in respect of one of the motors and dropped the charge in connexion with the second.

The first defendant, according to the Police officer, was arrested in Hennessy Road during the early morning of August 19. He was carrying a bundle which contained a motor stolen from 259, Lockhart Road. The man was arrested and,
on information which he divulged,
the Police went to a house in Centre Street and there found another motor under the third defendant's bed. A third motor was found at 213, Queen's Road West, having been sold to an electrician.
The motor found in Centre Street was stolen from 329, Lockhart Road while the third was taken from 7, Leighton Hill Road.

Police enquiries showed that the third defendant was the ringleader and had instructed the others to do the stealing.

His Worship sentenced the first two men to six weeks hard labour and the third, whom his Worship said seemed to be the organiser of crime, to six months.

SYMPHONIC CONCERT.

SUNDAY'S TREAT AT THE PENINSULA HOTEL

The musical entertainment given by the Peninsula Hotel orchestra last Sunday night was a most enjoyable function, the programme comprising another good selection of numbers and including some old favourites.

Each item received its due applause and apparently the most popular were the Overture "Lustspiel" by Keler Bela, "The Dollar Princess" selection by Fall, overture "Semiramide" by Rossini, selections from the musical play
"Katinka" by Friml, "Hearts and Flowers" by Toffani, "Neapolitan Nights" by Zamecnik, and Suite II of "Arlesienne" comprising four numbers, by Bizet.

A particular feature was the clarinet solo, "Alcanta Fantasy" by Thiere, played by Mr. A.
Vermick, with piano accompaniment by Mr. Stupel, and the continuous applause for an encore was accorded variations from the same number.

Other concerts for succeeding Sundays are in process of arrangement, and that for September 11 will be of exceptional interest, when Mr. G. L. Gecks, the popular conductor of the band of the 1st Bn.
The South Wales Borderers will lead a joint orchestra composed of 28 selected musicians from that unit and from the bands of the

It is understood that further

"Improvement In My Health Was Soon Very Noticeable."

The action of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills upon the spirits and general health of sufferers from anaemia, (blood impoverishment) and nervous troubles is such that quite often an improvement is visible in the first few days of the treatment. Appetite is better, digestion more easy and sleep more restful.

Little by little the tired feelings, physical weakness, headaches, nervousness and other symptoms disappear, driven away by the new supplies of rich pure blood which the pills help the system to create.

Mons. J. Macoutere, of Seba'stopo Place, Tourcoing, France, recently wrote our Paris office demonstrating this. "For many years," wrote Mons. Macoutere, "I suffered from anaemia, with stomach weak-ness and other troubles. I tried in vain several treatments. But after deciding to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I found that within the first week the improvement in my health was very noticeable. After two weeks treatment all my troubles had vanished and after-wards I gained more strength from day to day. Now—and I owe it to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills alone—my health is perfect."

Obtainable from chemists and medicine dealers everywhere. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, the Dr. Williams Medicine Co's blood and nerve tonic. Refuse all substitutes.

LEAP YEAR BRIDE

by Laura Lou BROOKMAN

BEGIN HERE TO-DAY

Cherry Dixon, pretty 19-year-old daughter of wealthy parents, falls in love with Dan Phillips, newspaper reporter. She quarrels with her father about Dan, leaves home and, taking advantage of Leap Year, asks Dan to marry her.

They are married and for the first time Cherry finds out what it means to lack money. Her struggles with housework are discouraging. Dixie Shannon, movie critic of the News, is friendly with Cherry. She meets handsome Max Pearson, who also works on the News.

Cherry receives a letter from her mother enclosing a cheque for $500. She returns the cheque because she will not let her keep money. Her struggle with housework is discouraging. Dixie Shannon, movie critic of the News, is friendly with Cherry. She meets handsome Max Pearson, who also works on the News.

CHAPTER XXVI

Cherry was on her feet now. The eager hope that had shone in her eyes vanished as quickly as it had appeared.

Her father remained in the doorway. Not so much as a muscle seemed to change in that relentless face.

"Dr. Knowles—" Cherry began.

"He's in the living room. We're to go there."

They went down the stairs. Cherry, just a little ahead. She did room she saw the doctor standing before the fireplace.

There was a great bowl of roses on the table at the right. Cherry's mother had always kept flowers in that bowl, cutting and arranging them herself each morning. There was the basket where her mother kept the bit of sewing she liked to have handy for the hours before dinner. Nothing was changed and yet the whole room seemed empty now. Deserted.

Cherry rushed forward. "Oh, Dr. Knowles, tell me!" she cried. "I can't bear this waiting. I can't bear it! I've got to know!"

Dr. Knowles put an arm about the girl's shoulders. "There, there!" he said soothingly. "You promised me you'd be brave and have control of yourself. We're not discouraged. Not in the least. We're making the biggest fight we know how. You must help us!"

He had known Cherry almost since babyhood, had seen her through the attack of chickenpox which, at 5, was her first illness. The girl buried her face in his shoulder. A moment later when she looked up she was dry-eyed.

Walter Dixon's deep voice broke in. He said, "Cherry, wait a moment. The doctor is coming."

The doctor nodded. "Mrs. Dixon has been resting," he said, "and rest is what she needs above all else. She slept for almost two hours this afternoon. She's awake now but we're hoping she'll drop off again before long."

He turned to Cherry. "Will you promise," he said firmly, "that if I let you see your mother for a few moments you won't become hysterical? Will you promise to go in quietly and say just a word or two and then leave?"

"Oh, yes, doctor—I promise!"

"Well, then," Dr. Knowles considered, "I think it might be a good idea. Nothing must happen that could disturb her. You understand that? If she should suddenly become aroused—worried—any slight emotional disturbance just now would be dangerous. On the other hand I think she'd be pleased to know you're here. Well?"

"I'll do exactly as you say, doctor," Cherry said earnestly. "I'll—I'll be brave!"

The doctor looked across at the other man. "I think you'd better come too, Walter," he said quietly.

The three mounted the stairs and walked down the hall to Mrs. Dixon's room. A nurse—not the one Cherry had seen before—opened the door in answer to the doctor's light knock.

"She's awake," the nurse whispered. "Wait a moment. The doctor is coming."

gave the only light in the room. The shades at the windows had been drawn and the furniture showed only as dark outlines casting black shadows. Against the opposite wall, just out of the lamp-light, was the great white bed.

The face on the pillow looked as colourless as the pillow slip. A tired face. Expressionless. The grey hair, drawn back severely, made the face seem old. One arm lay out over the covers.

It was Dr. Knowles who stepped forward. The tired eyes seemed to widen a trifle.

"Someone to see you," he said quietly. "I'm only going to let her stay a few moments. Cherry—"

The girl knelt at the bedside. Her two hands, so strong and young clasped the mother's enfleebled one. "Mother! Oh, Mother!" Cherry breathed the words as though they were a prayer. Her head bowed down against the covers.

"Cherry!"

It was the barest whisper but both men heard it. The girl lifted her head. There were tears in her eyes but she was smiling.

"Oh, Mother, dear, you're going to get well now in a hurry! You must."

A transformation seemed to have come over the mother's face. "My little girl," she whispered.

pleadingly.

"Walter," she said slowly. The man bowed at the other side of the bed. He did not speak. Only the eyes that had seemed so grim and unrelenting a few minutes before were veiled by a thin mist.

There was a moment of silence. Then, as though summoning supreme strength, the woman went on a waveringly: "Walter—forgive—Cherry?"

Dixon's hand slid over the coverlet. It found his wife's. Then the heavier, darker fingers clasped Cherry's. It was one of those electric moments when the stillness seems alive with a thousand voices.

The man's words broke the spell. "It's all right, Alice," he said huskily. "Everything's going to be all right as soon as you're stronger."

The nurse's starched uniform rustled in the background. Dr. Knowles stepped forward.

For an instant Cherry's lips brushed her mother's hand. She (Continued on Page 11.)

BEAUTY HINTS.

Perfumed Baths.

Fragrance and friction are the secrets which make the order of the bath a rite of beauty.

The medical authority who stated recently that cosmetics were of value and that perfume added to a woman's charm, spoke the truth, but not the whole truth. Just as love has the power of beautifying partly through stimulating self-confidence, and new clothes can make a coward brave, so fragrance, by promoting a delightful sense of well-being, charms us and empowers us to charm others.

The perfumed bath, then, cannot be too strongly recommended as a definite and pleasant aid to health and beauty. The woman who expresses her personality by the use of one distinct perfume will try to procure this special fragrance for her bath, but if not available in the shops, it is a simple matter to prepare the salts at home in the following manner:—

Bath Salts

Have a wide-necked bottle or jar with a well fitting stopper, and into this spray or sprinkle a little of your ret perfume. Cork and shake so that the whole inside is wet with the scent. Now break up into quite small pieces some ordinary washing soda and put it into the container. Add a few drops of the perfume after each few inches of the soda and pour a little over the last before corking.

Let this stand for three days when it is ready for use and will delight you.

For those who prefer a powder to crystals, 8 ounces of borax and 2 of carbonate of soda mixed well together, may be treated in the way described above.

Oil of lavender (or other essence) is preferable for scenting bath powder, but if not easily procurable, ordinary perfume will give the desired results. For those who have no particular fancy in scent, and who like the suggestion of violets, 2½ ozs. of orris powder to the above quantities of borax and carbonate of soda will make a very pleasant bath. Orris powder does not dissolve, so it is best to tie the powder in a muslin bag.

Perfumed Starch

The woman who wants to boast a velvety white skin should use starch in her bath, and, here again, by mixing 4 ozs. of orris powder to 1 lb. of powdered starch a faint fragrance of violets results. This powder can be kept in a tin and is best used in a muslin bag. The quantity named will serve for ten baths.

There are delightful herbs which make bathing a joy and definitely promote beauty by their action on the skin, while for those who like the pungent exhilarating pine fragrance there are several inexpensive brands of pine bath salts in powder form. These are especially helpful to sufferers from rheumatism and, regularly used, help to achieve slenderness.

A lemon bath is an excellent skin whitener. Cut two or more lemons in slices, pour boiling water over them and after an hour pour the liquid into the bath water. Alternatively, cut in half, squeeze the fruit, and add the juice to the bath water. In each case have the hands in the water and use them, well soaped, on the body.

Perfumed ammonia, now on the market, gives an invigorating bath, and vinegar or cooking salt in the water will prove stimulating. It may be mentioned here that bran, barley, and oatmeal soften water and beautify the skin, and may be used by those with tender skins to

SOMETHING NEW.

For Boys and Girls.

Both boys and girls will be fascinated by the new model-making outfits that have just been put on the market.

They consist of a sheet of thin cardboard on which is a black and white outline drawing of the model to be made—a London omnibus, for instance, complete with passengers. The drawing is in two or three sections.

With this cardboard is included a gummed sheet of paper on which are printed in colours all the parts that go to the making of the bus.

These different parts have to be sorted, cut out and stuck on to the outlined cardboard in the proper position. Finally the different sections are gummed together, and the model is complete.

Two different models are given on each sheet. They cost only 3d. the set of two.

Similar in principle but a little simpler are the picture-making and map-making puzzles.

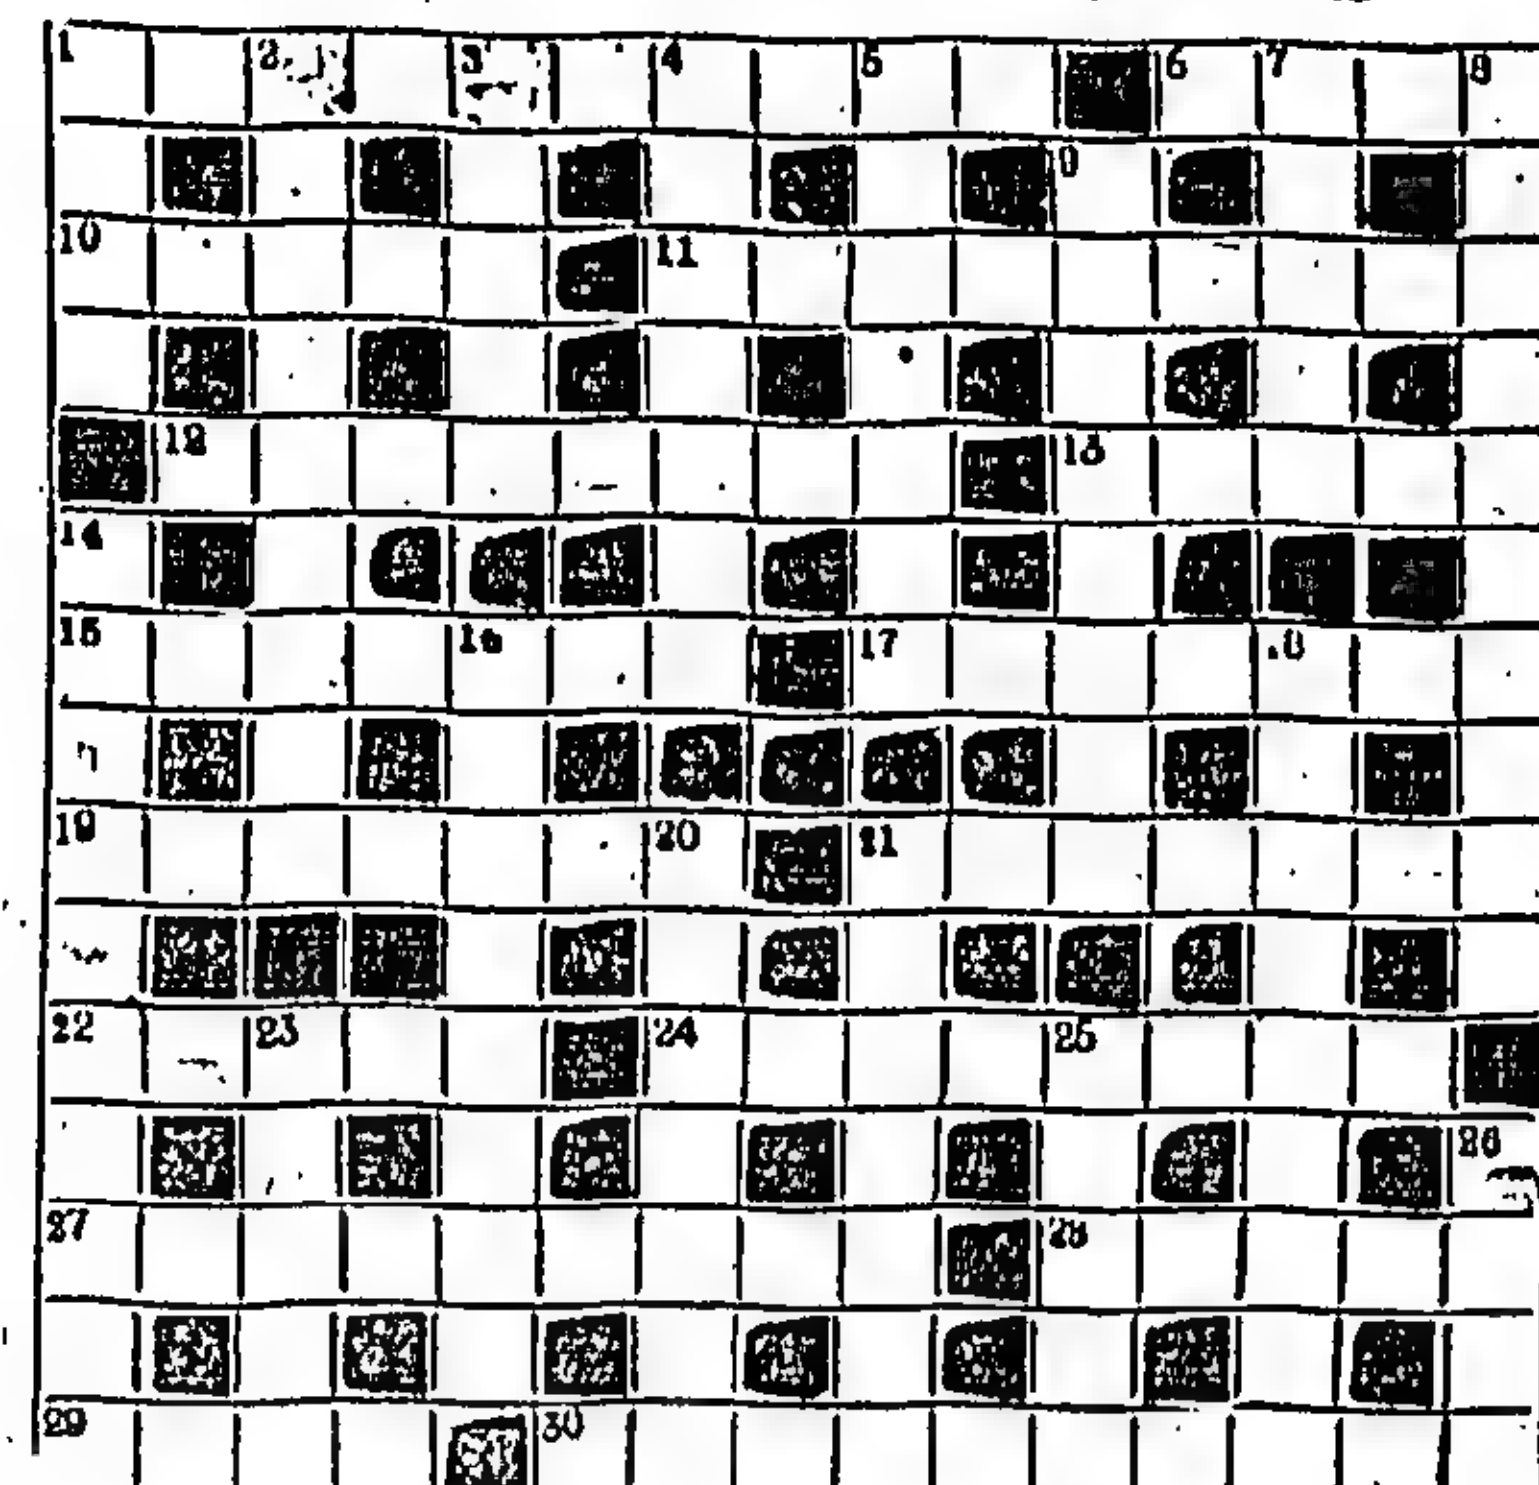

reduce the quantity of perfumed soda.

Friction

And after the fragrance comes the friction. Even when a sponge bath only is possible, rub the whole body vigorously with a rough towel until the skin glows and tingles; and the result will be a bloom of health more beautiful than classic features.

Our grandmothers were famous for their rose leaf complexion. They had not our facilities for baths, and cosmetics were rare and costly, but they knew the two beauty secrets which you are now proud to practise: fragrance, and friction!

CURRENT PROBLEMS

This year's Trade Union Congress, which is to be held at Newcastle, will be noteworthy for the wide range of subjects which are to come up for consideration. Fiscal issues, together with such matters as unemployment, the social services, the political outlook, international labour, working-class education and many other questions involving the interests of organised labour will be debated. Armaments and war-making will be debated, even civil aviation will be considered, while proposals will come forward for the public control and regulation of trade, and for the acquisition by the Government, on fair terms, of the country's railways and other transport undertakings. There is promise of lively discussions on many of these subjects, as the members of the Congress represent all schools of thought in the Trade Union movement.

Naturally, unemployment figures very prominently on the agenda, in which connexion the Government is to be urged to provide work for the workless by removing the hampering restrictions on the progressive development of public works, housing schemes, slum clearance, etc., and to join with local authorities in promoting long term-programmes of reconstruction. A "five point" plan for dealing with unemployment is to be put forward. This involves (a) the cancellation of Reparations and War Debts; (b) international examination and control of debts and loans between nations; (c) the removal of tariff barriers; (d) the national control of banking and monopolistic industries; (e) the taxation of land values. There are various schemes for the reorganisation of the National Health Insurance, of which the chief involves the centralisation of finance, the abolition of the panel system and establishment of a State medical service, to include specialist service and dental extension of medical service to dependents of insured workers.

In connexion with civil aviation, attention is to be directed to the chaos that has developed in the maritime industries, to the paralysis of shipbuilding, to the growth of tariffs, and the con-

chaos developing in international travel as between air and the mercantile marine, as has occurred between road and rail on land, and the Government will be called upon to establish a National Maritime and Civil Aviation Board to develop and co-ordinate these services with a view to utilising both to the fullest advantage in the interests of the nation, including the provision of greater and cheaper facilities for the transit of both goods and persons. All in all, the Congress will have many problems to discuss, and it is something to the good that important problems are to be discussed from a broad-minded angle.

Singing in the Bath.

Singing in the bath has long been a subject for song and story. Now it has become a subject for investigation by physicists. This is not to be wondered at. For who is there without a genuine personal concern in the matter? One may never have tried to mix the oil of tuneful gladness with the gratefully warm water of the morning tub. But he is in a small minority indeed who has not muttered at least the sentiment of Shelley's "Bird thou never wert," outside a bathroom door. Either from the outside or the inside, most people have a very active interest in the bathroom ballad. So whenever someone attempts to penetrate the subtle relationship between soap and symphonies, a large and not inexperienced audience awaits his pronouncements. Now there comes Dr. Knudsen, a professor of physics, with the opinion that the acoustical properties of bathrooms are responsible for much community entertainment. The question is not to be lightly dismissed. It is one not only of æsthetic, but of ethical and economical application as well. From the point of view of ethics it might be asked should not the gentleman, or the lady, bather consider it a duty not only to lift the bathroom ceiling, but also to let his listeners know that on certain nights he will render all-request programmes—requests for songs, be it understood, to receive preference over these for silence. From the standpoint of economics it would seem advisable for someone experienced in research to determine whether or not a certain alderman was correct in asserting that singing prolongs the bath and wastes water. Meanwhile it may be expected that every morning and every evening will be heard throughout the land the mighty chorus of soaking songsters. For if physicists can find no reason why a bathtub baritone should stop, it is almost certain that the vocal hair-raisers will not be discouraged by the doubtfulness of reasons for continuing. Song, they will say, is of the heart rather than of the head. No doubt many of them secretly feel that if Mendelssohn was accorded fame for his Songs Without Words they should at least be forgiven for their songs without reason.

TWENTY-FOUR GRAVES RECTORY GARDEN

Mrs. Fortescue, widow of Canon V. K. Fortescue (senior) Priest Canon of Coventry Cathedral, has left Corley Rectory, Warwickshire, where she had resided for twenty-six years, and the fact has come to light that while there she established a private cemetery for cats, in a portion of the grounds lying immediately between the rectory house and the parish churchyard. There are fifteen cats' graves on one side of the footpath and nine on the other, and only a few yards distant two monumental slabs—in every particular the equivalent of those seen in churchyards and cemeteries above the graves of children and young people.

One records the death of "My darling Hebe—her loss in desolation," followed by a Latin quotation; and the other that of "Punch—a most faithful companion for nearly seventeen years." These inscriptions are believed to refer to favourite dogs, who died at Buddenham Rectory, where Canon Fortescue was incumbent at the

BATCH OF BAD DOLLARS

YOUTH CHARGED WITH TENDERING

A young Chinese appeared before Mr. Schofield at the Central Police Court this morning on charges of tendering spurious dollar coins and of being in possession of eleven counterfeit coins in Main Street, Shaubuiwan.

The defendant admitted possession but denied knowledge that the coins were counterfeit. Inspector G. A. Stimson informed his Worship that yesterday morning the defendant, who had come from Yau-mat, went to a stall in Main Street and tendered a dollar to purchase a packet of cigarettes. A boy fifteen years of age, who was in charge of the stall, handed the man the cigarettes and 90 cents change. Shortly afterwards, the boy's father returned to the stall and discovered that the dollar which had been accepted was counterfeit.

At the moment the defendant was seen at a shop struggling with an old man. He had gone there and tendered a dollar coin for two packets of sweets which cost four cents a packet. The old man instantly noticed that the coin was bad and informed the defendant, who tendered a second one which was also bad. The old man then seized the defendant and a struggle ensued. From the defendant's pocket the old man extracted five more dollars, all of which were counterfeit. The defendant himself was seen to throw away another six.

The defendant was then taken to the Police Station. Inspector Stimson remarked that the defendant made a sad mistake when he attempted to swindle the old man, whom he apparently thought was too short-sighted to notice the coins. The case was adjourned until Tuesday morning.

VISIT TO A SOVIET YOUTH CAMP

THE school-system of Soviet Russia probably represents one of the most amazing experiments in the history of education.

Realising that the future of the U.S.S.R. is in the hands of the young, its rulers instruct every child in the Communist faith as soon as it is able to read and write.

Last year, I visited a Young Pioneer Camp near Kiev, where 130 boys and girls were spending a holiday under canvas. The Young Pioneer Movement was originated by Lenin's wife, Madam Krupskaya, who had made a prolonged study of the British Boy Scout Movement.

Both organisations aim at teaching the children "useful crafts"—first-aid, swimming, the appreciation of nature, and physical instruction. But whereas the Boy Scout movement aims primarily at inculcating the ideals of good citizenship, the object of the Young Pioneers is vastly different.

These Russian children, from 10 to 16 years of age, are told at every turn that their sole duty in life is to further the cause of Communism not only in Russia but the world over. They are imbued with the zeal to accentuate class warfare by every means in their power. To this end they are trained to fight for their beliefs whenever opportunity may happen to arise.

Only four adults were in the camp, and their duties were as follows. The first of these trained the children to absorb the doctrines of the Soviet Republic; the second gave physical, and what was considered more important, military instruction; the third was a teacher of natural science, and the last of the four was an inspector of schools whose province it was to see that the children were not taught anything contrary to the dogma of Communism.

"We Come"

The camp was divided up into groups each containing about thirty children, and when I arrived there one evening in July last, one of these groups was holding a final conference prior to leaving the camp next day. Having completed its regulation one month's holiday, it was then revelling in a final orgy of Communist oratory calculated to send each child home burning with enthusiasm for the cause.

All at once, from the trees behind me came a shout from another group of children. Between the tall pines they came marching with Prussian regularity, chanting in unison the slogan "We come, We, the men of Voroshiloff." (Voroshiloff is the Commander of the Red Army).

Shortly afterwards, I was able to speak to some of these children. They almost quarrelled with one another for precedence in speaking to the "Englishman."

"Are you a Rabotchi (worker)?" was the first question fired at me.

This was followed in quick succession by a host of other queries.

"Are the workers bodily oppressed in your country?"

"Do working-class children go to the same schools as the children of the rich?"

"How many Communists are there in Scotland?"

These questions are enough to show how thoroughly they had been permeated with "Red" propaganda. Now it was my turn to cross-examine.

"What do you wish to be when you are a man?" I asked one little fellow of fourteen.

"An electrical engineer," came the prompt reply.

"Why?" I continued.

"Because I want to build up industry," was the retort of this prodigy.

Caught Young

"Would you like to be a Red Army man?" I enquired of another.

"We will all be Red Army men if the necessity should arise," said he proudly. The look of determination that shone in the eyes of his comrades clearly showed that opinion was unanimous on this point.

No visitor to Russia to-day can fail to be impressed by the enormous advance made by bodies like the Commissariat of Education, the Young Communist League, and the Young Pioneers, in harnessing the youth of the nation to the State machine. Their object, openly acknowledged by those who control them, is to inspire in the young a complete acceptance of Communism, and the necessity for an increasing class war against Capitalism in all its forms.

Girls, You Must See This Drama!

By Edward Kelly, Darling of the Gods.

Someone told us the other day that the A.D.C. were going to give another show this season.

Realising as we do the tremendous organisation necessary in preparing these sort of things, we are going to offer our services.

We were discussing the matter only last night with another famous theatricalist, and we think that more local colour should be infused into the proceedings.

We have prepared our own programme.

Not a turn will be left unstoned—stone left unturned—to make this show a huge success.

No effort will be spared to place before the public of Hongkong an outstanding performance by the Colony's leading artistes.

Superlatives are inadequate in speaking of this powerful, fascinating and dramatic epic of the stage. There are no adjectives capable of describing this immortal, super, super, special attraction. (Cravings of pardon to Hollywood).

Well, we've warned you. Here it is.

collor or weep over his meteoric projection into the national picture.

But none can blink the fact that he is the man chosen by Hindenburg to serve the key position in this sudden surge of the Junkers to the top.

And none can blink the fact that the Monarchists, in office or out, at last have come boldly to the fore in national politics with a determination that the warring rival parties find hard to resist.

MILITARY ATTACHE.

Who is this man who but for his diplomatic immunity might have languished in an American prison?

Franz von Papen was born Oct. 29, 1879, at Werl in Westphalia of an old Catholic, aristocratic family, which owned great estates in that region.

Like so many of his class in the old days of the German monarchy, he naturally turned to the army for his career.

Just before the World War, at 35, he was sent to Washington as military attache to the German embassy. When the World War broke out, he was one of the coterie of Germans who sought to interfere with the manufacture of munitions in America for the Allies account.

In the winter of 1916 the American government invited him to leave. Von Papen was then posted to the general staff of the Turkish army where he served the balance of the war.

OUT OF TOUCH.

The conflict over and Germany a republic, Von Papen retired to his estates, but in 1924 he began taking an interest in politics and as a member of the Catholic Centre party, was elected to the Prussian Landtag.

He soon began to find himself out of touch and sympathy with his party. The Centre leaned towards the Left, often collaborating with the Socialists. Von Papen aspired violently to the Right and was a Nationalist in all but name.

It has now been revealed that for months before the crash Von Papen had been working to undermine Brüning.

MYSTERY PHASE.

Another mysterious phase of his activities is his reputed pro-French twist, which has caused the Nationalists themselves to look at him askance. In the Saar and in Luxemburg, Von Papen is reputed to have made speeches favouring closer relations between Germany and France.

An ardent Catholic, it is said he maintained close relations with leading French Catholics, who, like himself, were sounding the ground for a better understanding.

DICTATORSHIP?

Even the Nationalist press, despite the fact that his Cabinet is filled with generals and obscure Nationalist barons, are shy of him, because of his supposed pro-French activities. Papers and people of all sorts are derisive of the position and point out that the Socialists, the Nazis and the Centre—which have the bulk of the votes—are not represented in the Cabinet.

On the other hand, in so far as they represent anything, the Cabinet Ministers represent parties, which have been swiftly declining both in votes and in power.

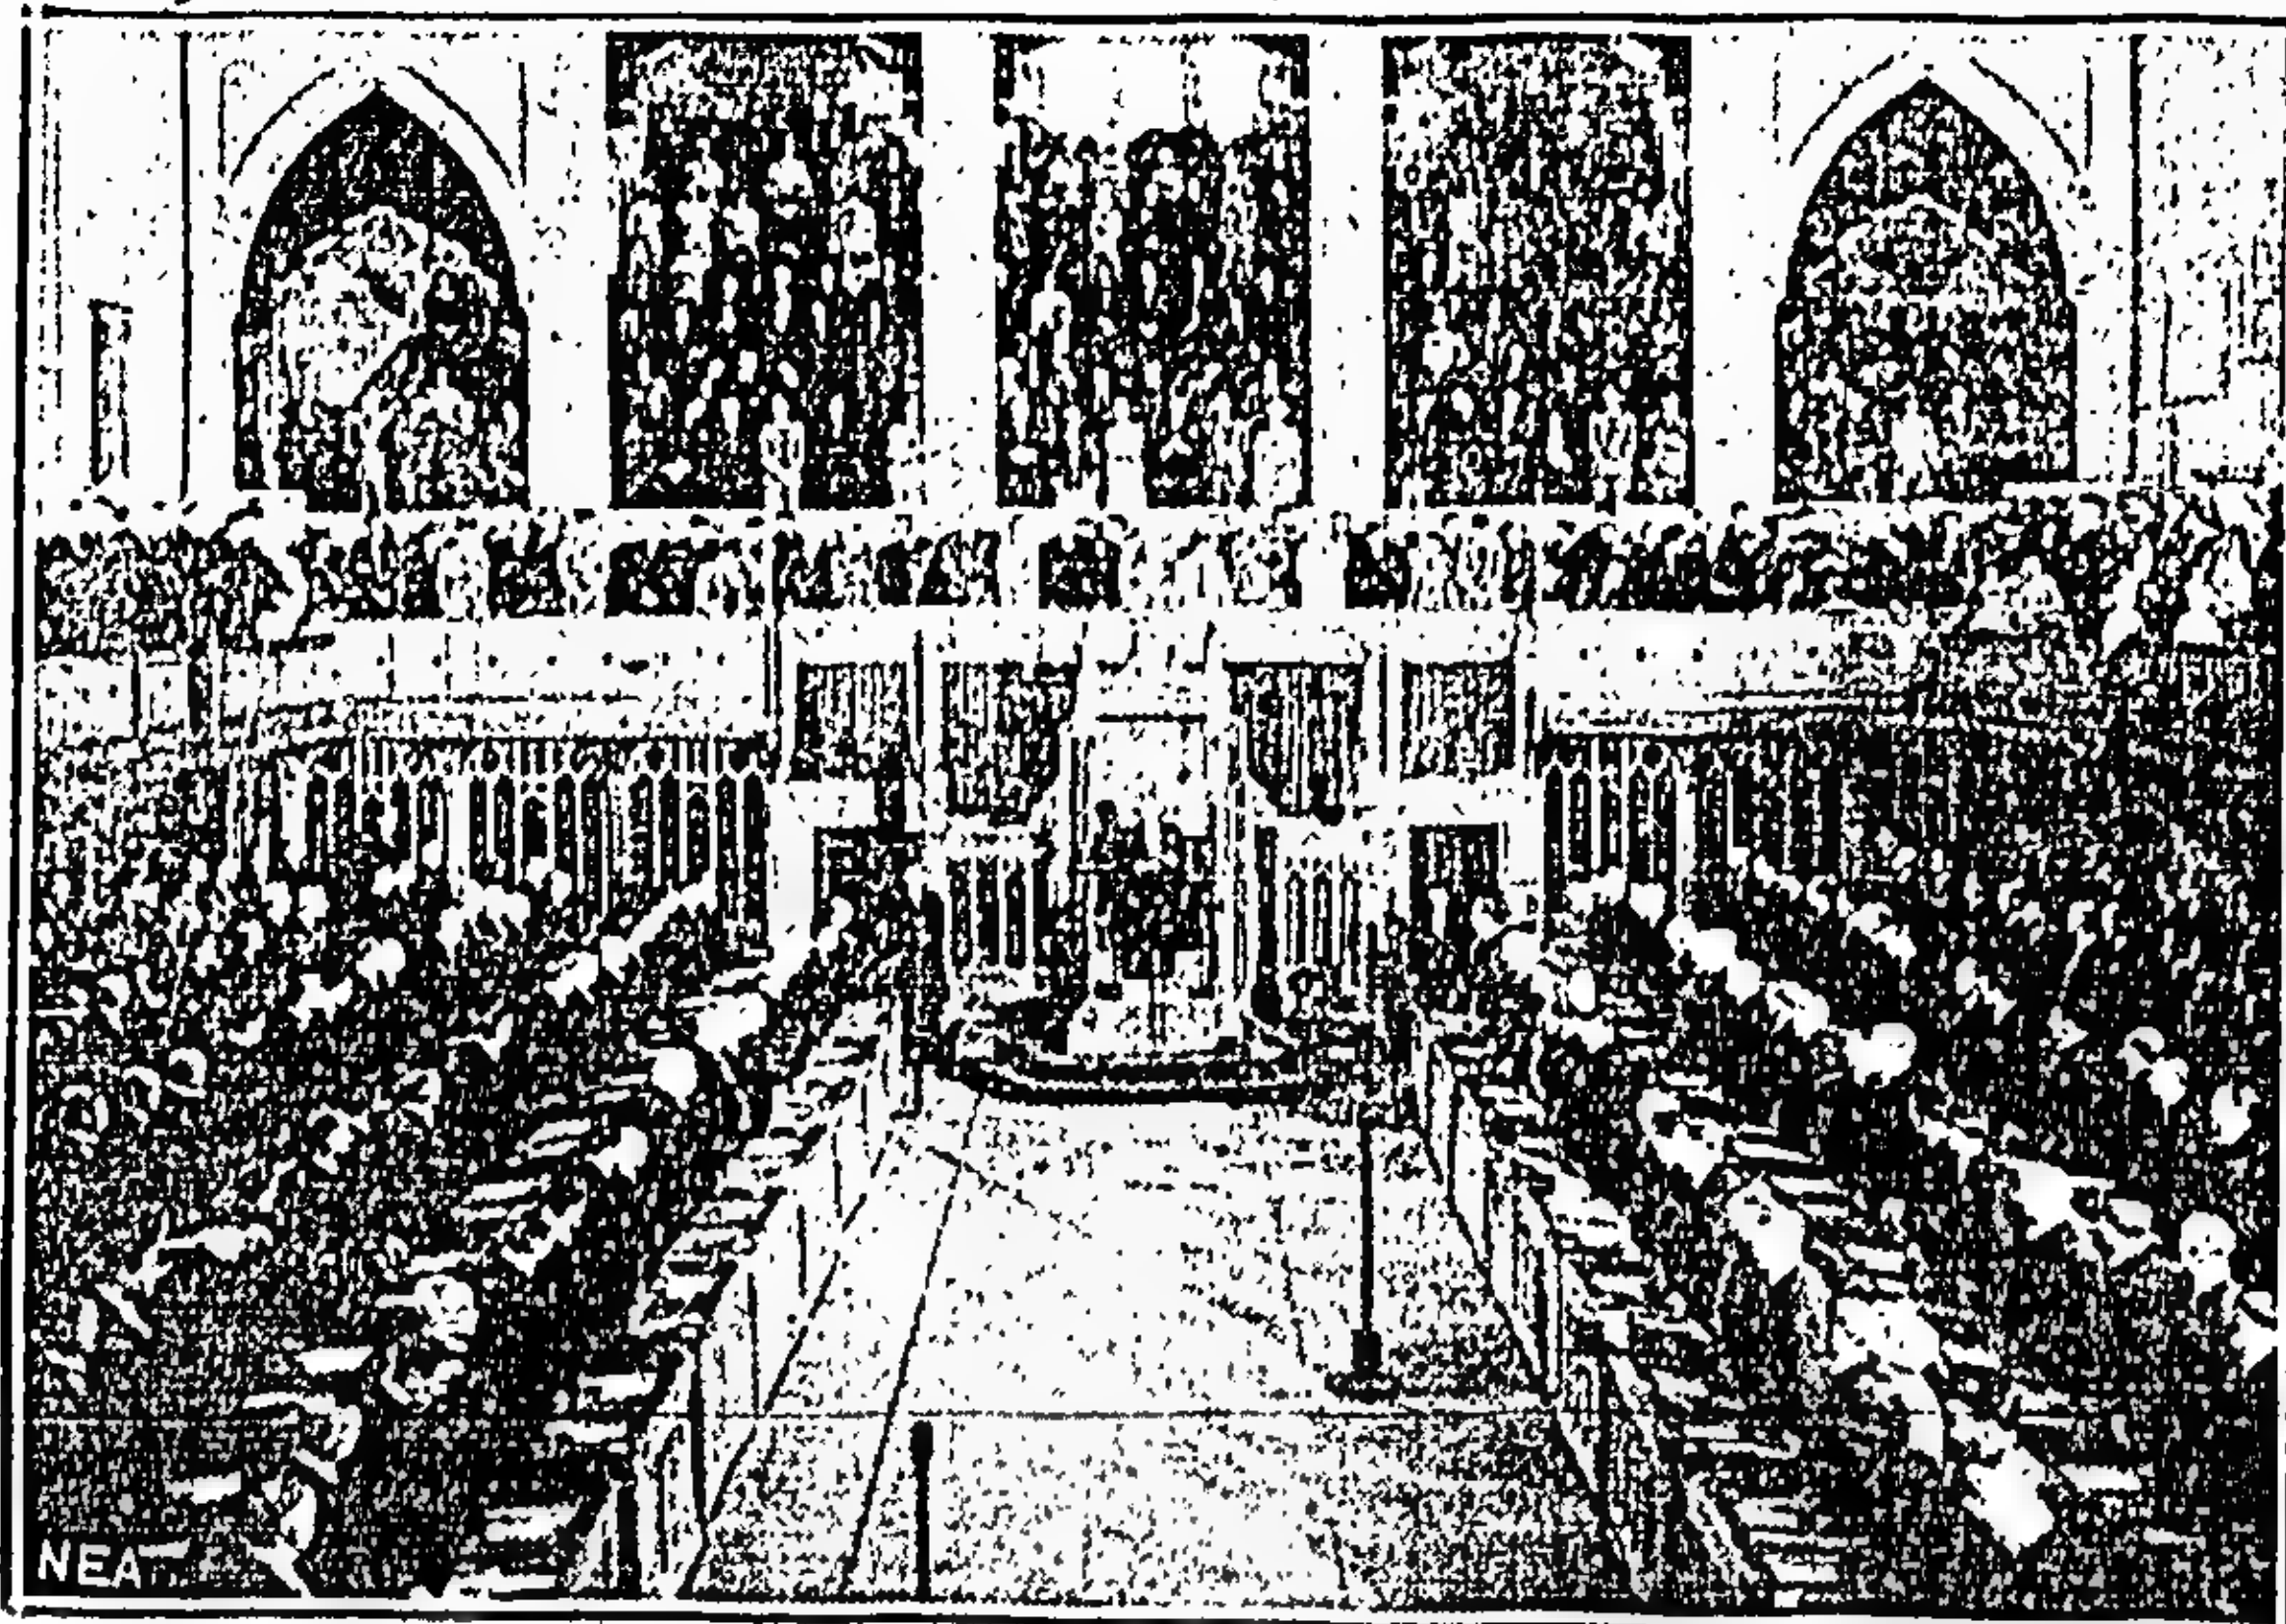

Knowing all these things, it is suggested that the triumvirate, composed of Hindenburg, Von Papen and his minister of Reichswart, General von Schleicher, propose to rule the country. The feeling in Germany is that the triumvirate will yet balk the Nazis and continue to rule Germany.

CINEMA SCREENINGS.

NOTES SUPPLIED BY THE THEATRES.

Far be it from Roland West, the United Artists producer, to make a man out of Chester Morris. Having discovered Chester, he is the apple of his producer's eye. But the pride of discovery cannot explain away the fact that in "Corair", which comes to Central Theatre on Thursday he surrounded his star with four women.

There is that mysterious beauty Alison Lloyd, whom the Hollywood secret service has disclosed to be none other than Thelma Todd, a comedienne whom Roland West is converting into a dramatic actress.

Then there is the vivacious Gay Senbrook. Those who read Walton Green's magazine serial or published book "Corair" from which West adapted his Screen play, will recall her as the man-chasing society girl, Susie Grenoble.

And there are Addie McPhail and Mayo Methot. Producer West agrees that four women against one man is a situation which needs explaining. And his alibi he believes will be as convincing as his film production "Alibi" in which he made Chester Morris a star.

For one thing, says West, "Corair" is a story of many backgrounds. Chester Morris starts out as an All-American football hero who is taken up by society after he scores the touchdown that beat the Champion Eastern team.

If there is anything the young society crowd likes better than an All-American it is several All-Americans, and inasmuch as Chester Morris, is neither twins, a quartette or an entire football eleven, the multiplicity of his admirers is justifiable.

College, New York society, Wall Street, the underworld and the high seas—all are different environments, and each environment has its own type of women. And after all, says West, the hero of "Corair" is a one-woman man—but the producer declines to reveal beforehand who is going to win Chester Morris in his photoplay.

"Mata Hari" Comes

years will be shown on Thursday at the Queen's Theatre. This is "Mata Hari" the picture which co-stars Greta Garbo and Ramon Novarro, a cinema event which aroused the keenest anticipation during the entire time in which the work was in production.

"Mata Hari" which from the viewpoint of story, direction, settings and photography is said to establish a new standard for photoplay achievements, is made further distinctive by a supporting cast which includes such important film names as Lionel Barrymore, who recently was awarded the Academy trophy for the finest masculine performance of 1931; Lewis Stone, C. Henry Gordon, Karen Morley and Alice B. Francis. Minor roles are filled by Blanche Frederici, Edmund Breese, Helen Jerome Eddy and Frank Reicher. It was directed by George Fitzmaurice, who scored with the Norma Shearer production, "Strangers May Kiss."

The unanimous opinion of critics who have seen pre-views of "Mata Hari" is that it is the most ambitious, the most profoundly stirring and the most glamorous production in which Miss Garbo or Novarro have ever appeared. Both stars are cast in roles which depart from the general trend of their previous characterizations and which give them every opportunity for both romantic and dramatic work of the first order.

Miss Garbo in the title role plays the exotic Mata Hari, whose notorious career as a dancer and woman of many affairs is but a cover for her nefarious activities as a spy for the German government. Miss Garbo, who may always be depended on for the unusual, appears in an entirely new hair-dress in "Mata Hari" and wears what has been described as a dazzling series of exotic and extreme costumes. The settings are likewise reported to be the most lavish and unusual yet turned out by this studio.

"After To-morrow."

The fearsome and awe-inspiring heights of New York's cloud-piercing Empire State building, tallest man-made structure on earth, will provide dramatic setting for the opening sequence of "After To-morrow," new Fox Film production opening tomorrow at the King's Theatre in which Charles Farrell and Marion Nixon are featured.

Fox cameramen in New York scrambled over and around the famous dirigible mooring mast atop the tower, and to the peaks of nearby skyscrapers, to photograph the landmark and the mosaic of the great efforts are said to present one of the efforts below. The results of their efforts are to present one of the most spectacular scenic backgrounds ever conceived for a motion picture.

"After To-morrow," as directed by Frank Borzage, maker of "7th Heaven" and "Mad Girl," is a screen adaptation of one of New York's latest stage successes. Nina Combs, William Collier, Sr. and Josephine Hull are featured in the cast.

"Rich Man's Folly."

George Bancroft, star in the spectacular melodrama, "Rich Man's Folly," which is now showing at the Oriental Theatre, has abandoned make-up in his character roles. He has definite reasons for doing so. He never used make-up to any great extent. He has always played rugged characters and, having a rugged physique and wrinkled countenance, he only indulged lightly in the use of grease paint and colour. Attacks. Recently he rebelled against all make-up and was the first prominent star to do so. A number of other actors of note have followed his lead.

"The Outsider."

Judged by both artistic canons and from the angle of entertainment, "The Outsider," which is at the King's Theatre, is an achievement in cinema technique. Undoubtedly one of the greatest successes of the British speaking stage, "The Outsider" enjoyed a phenomenal run a few years ago at the St. James's Theatre. In New York, too, it was equally as popular. It had a splendid run, and was unanimously conceded by the critics as the most engrossing of all English plays. Since that time it has toured every important town in the country, and was recently revived in London for a further triumphant run at the Apollo Theatre. And now you see the film version. It is even more sensational—with an impressive cast recruited from the stage and screen, two of whom, the celebrated Harold Ruth and Norman McKinnel, appeared in the original roles.

The story is full of tense drama. It is gripping and intensely human. The settings are ultra-modern and amazingly artistic, and the photography as well as the recording are equally good. Director Harry Lachman indeed deserves splendid credit. He has adroitly availed himself of

KENT WIND UP STRONGLY

INNINGS

MAY FINISH THIRD
IN TABLE

London, Aug. 29.
Kent wound up their county cricket programme with a handsome win over Essex, beating them in two days by an innings and 48 runs, and unless Notts defeat Lancashire, the "hoppers" should secure third in the championship table, a position they occupied last year.

B. H. Valentine, C. S. Marriott (the brilliant schoolmaster googly bowler) and Freeman shared the honours in this match.

Valentine compiled a splendid 180 out of a total of 404, although O'Connor had a finger in the pie of achievements by capturing 5 wickets for 75 runs—no mean feat in view of the visitors' total.

Essex were completely at sea against Freeman and Marriott. Their first venture concluded at 196 (Freeman 6-100 and Marriott 4-55) and following on they fared even worse, being dismissed for 160 (Freeman 4-67 and Marriott 6-47).

In one of the last matches of the tour, All India were soundly beaten by Sir Julien Cahn's XI in a two-days match, the Baronet's team winning by an innings and 26 runs.

The Indians opened with a score of 152 to which Cahn's eleven replied with 342 and then dismissed the visitors a second time for less than 200, the final wicket falling at 164.—Reuter.

Madison Square Garden corporation still is excited about the $429,000 the customers paid to see Jack Sharkey win Max Schmeling's heavyweight title, and it is planned to work "big boys" as often as the public wants to look at them.

The Garden is inaugurating an elimination tournament "to pick a worthy foe for Jack Sharkey next summer." The first step will be a 15-round battle between Ernie Schnaf, Sharkey's protegee from Boston, and Paulino Uzcudun, the "bounding Basque," in the Garden Bowl at Long Island City, July 25.

Peterson Has Chance.

Jimmy Johnston, Garden manager, has advised leading heavyweights to start getting in shape for 15-round battles. The plan is to narrow down the field to a single outstanding contender to meet Schmeling at Miami during the winter, with the winner to get a chance at Sharkey next summer.

The Garden is busy at present lining up American heavyweights, as well as the foreigners considered outstanding. Johnston has announced that Harry Peterson, new heavyweight champion of England, will appear in the series of

NANKING SESSION.

HU HAN-MIN'S SECRETARY
REPRESENTS CANTON

Canton, Aug. 29.
As the result of the South-western Political Council meeting, the leaders have decided to appoint Mr. Li Shin-kan, former secretary and close associate of Mr. Hu Han-min and Superintendent of the Canton-Shiukwan Railway, to visit Nanking to meet the Kuomintang politicians on the Third Kuomintang Plenary Meeting.

There are numerous rumours prevailing concerning Mr. Li's visit, as it indicates that Mr. Hu Han-min still pays much attention to Nanking developments.

Mr. Li will leave here this morning for Hongkong to see Mr. Hu Han-min before going north.

In some quarters it is said that Mr. Li is visiting Nanking to see General Chan Ming-shu and Tsai Ting-kai, of the Nineteenth Route Army, representing General Chan-Chai-tong, to make an important offer to the Nineteenth Route Army.

Urgent Summons.

Nanking, Aug. 29.
In response to an urgent summons, Gen. Tsai Ting-kai, who with Mr. T. V. Soong arrived this morning from Shanghai, left for Hankow by plane this afternoon, to confer with Chiang Kai-shek.

Provincial Chairman.
Shanghai, Aug. 29.
The appointment of General Tsai Ting-kai, famous officer of the Nineteenth Route Army who visited Hongkong recently, to be Chairman of the Fukien Provincial Government has been announced semi-officially in Nanking.

General Tsai Ting-kai and Mr. T. V. Soong, the Finance Minister, returned to Nanking from Shanghai yesterday in Mr. Soong's aeroplane. It is understood that the Finance Minister has telegraphed Peiping asking Messrs. Chang Hsueh-liang and Dr. Wellington Koo to visit Nanking to confer with the Nanking civilian leaders concerning the Japanese threat to invade Jehol Province.—Rensha.

CHINA'S REPLY

PEACE RESTS WITH JAPAN

Nanking, Aug. 29.
"There will be no peace or prosperity for Manchuria until all the Japanese troops have been withdrawn," declares the Foreign Minister, Mr. Lo Wen-kan, in the course of a lengthy statement in reply to Count Uchida's speech in the Japanese Diet on August 25.

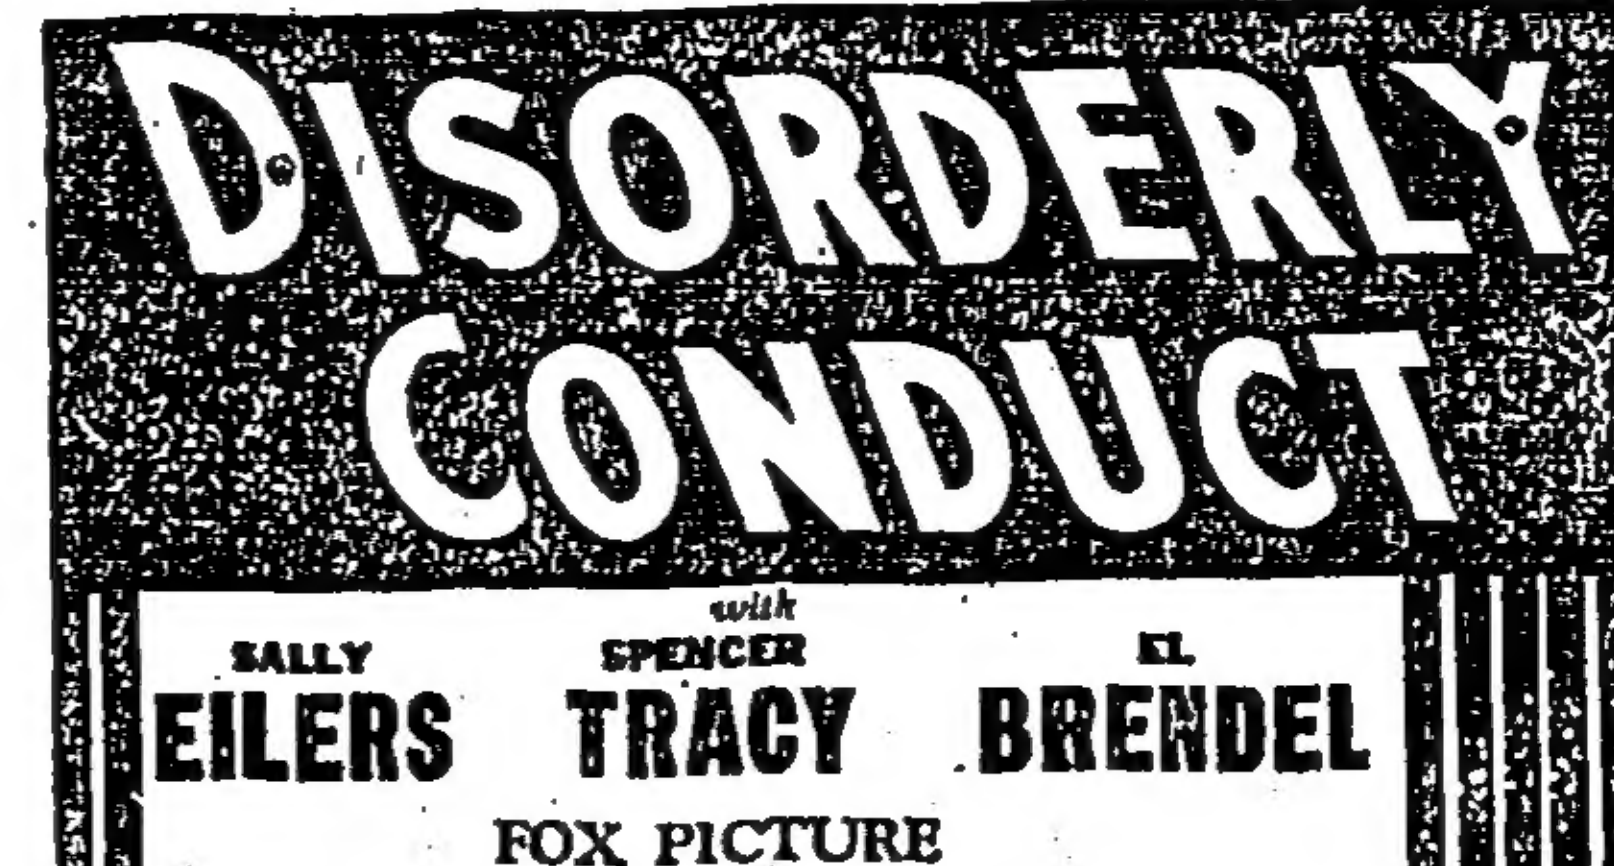

Mr. Lo Wen-kan emphasises, first of all, that it rests entirely with Japan herself to improve or restore Sino-Japanese relations.

Secondly, China will never surrender an inch of her territory, nor any of her sovereign rights, under stress of military force, which she is determined to resist to the best of her ability.

Thirdly, China will never agree to any solution of the present situation which takes into account the "puppet organisation in Manchuria established, maintained and controlled by the Japanese military forces."—Reuter.

JAPANESE PIECE GOODS DUMPING INTO INDIA

Higher Duty Coming into Force

NO DISCRIMINATION

Simla, Aug. 29.
The import duty upon non-British cotton piece goods is to be increased immediately from 31 1/4 per cent. to 50 per cent. ad valorem.

This is the result of the recommendations of the Indian Tariff Board, which has been studying the problem in view of the heavy shipments of Japanese goods to India.

Plain greys will be subject to a minimum duty of five and a quarter annas a pound (or 60 per cent. whichever is the higher) as compared with the present rate of 4 1/2.

PROTECTION INEFFECTIVE.

The Tariff Board's report has not yet been published but the Government of India's resolution upon it given a summary and shows that the Board answered in the affirmative the question whether non-British piece-goods were being imported at such a price as to render the existing protective tariffs ineffective.

It is pointed out that the Government of India's action is, to some extent, circumscribed by the terms of the Indo-Japanese Convention of 1904 which does not admit the imposition under any circumstances of higher duties upon Japanese goods alone.

GENERAL INCREASE.

The Government therefore rejected any measure involving discrimination against Japan and has applied the increased duty generally to piece-goods of non-British origin without distinguishing between various countries of origin.

The new duty, effective immediately, will remain in force until March 31, 1933.

It is pointed out that the findings of the Tariff Board must not be regarded as involving a conclusion regarding the general question of the continued protection of the Indian cotton industry, which is now the subject of a special inquiry.—Reuter.

CHILD ADOPTION PROSECUTION

MOTHERS OBJECT TO REMOVAL

Wong Sau-ching, a woman from Amoy, was brought before Mr. Fraser, at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning, on a charge of having taken part in a transaction to transfer possession, custody or control of two girls aged 14 and 13 for the sums of $120 and 70 respectively.

Prosecuting, Inspector Shaftain, of the S.C.A., said the defendant and her husband were from Fuklon. They recently arrived in Hongkong on a visit. Defendant got to know the mother of the girl of 14 through a man named Lam Kan, who was not in custody.

This man went to the mother of this girl and told her that he knew of a wealthy Fuklon man who wanted to adopt a daughter. The woman was a widow and had been supported by an only son until three months ago, when he died. She had no means of her own, and, under the circumstances, agreed to let her daughter be adopted into a respectable family. She agreed to take a sum of $120 for the adoption of her daughter, and was given $5 as deposit, being told that if her daughter proved satisfactory until the end of the month, she would be given the balance of the money.

A fellow-tenant of this girl's mother, overhearing the transaction, told Lam Kan that she also had a daughter, whom she wished to be adopted by a respectable family. Lam Kan said he could arrange that, too, and it was finally agreed to pay the girl's mother $70, the deposit being the same as in the other case.

Both these girls were then taken to the house of the defendant. This was on August 23. On the following day, defendant told the girls that she was taking them to Amoy. They refused to go and communicated with their mothers, who rushed to the defendant's house to claim their daughters. They offered to return the deposit and said when they consented to let their daughters be adopted by the defendant, they were under the impression that the girls would be brought up in Hongkong.

Defendant refused to give them up, and the mothers reported to the Shamshui Police Station, which in turn reported the matter to the S. C. A.

Lam Chi, the mother of the girl

YANKEES PRACTICALLY UNCATCHABLE

Increase Advantage to 11 1/2 Games

New York, Aug. 29.
Only a miracle could now encompass the failure of the New York Yankees to carry off the American League pennant. The only challengers, the Athletics, shared a double header with Detroit to-day and were lucky to win the first game.

The Yankees won both their games with Chicago and have again achieved the .700 mark in the standings.

St. Louis succumbed to Washington only in the thirteenth inning. Kress hit a home run vainly for Chicago. McNair produced a valuable fourmaster for the Athletics, and Rogell contributed largely to Detroit's victory in the nightcap.

There was no play in the National League.
